DESPITE ILL-FORTUNE CHAUTAUQUA ATTENDANCE KEPT UP.

THREE FINE NUMBERS

Dr. Smith and Dr. Adams Among Best Lecturers Ever Here—"Hiawatha" Was Up to Expectations.

"The Chautauqua was a No. 1, a complete success. I think that it is the best thing that comes to Maryville, and the people here should put their shoulders to the wheel to keep it going and growing. The failure of two numbers on the program is a thing that will happen to any Chautauqua. It was absolutely unavoidable, and no one here is to blame.

"Yesterday's afternoon and evening programs were as good as anything that has ever been brought here. A man who was walking through the grounds last evening asked me what band was playing. He was surprised to learn that it was the Maryville Concert band, and said that it was playing as well as any band that has been brought here. The ladies band must be commended, too. It is the organization which put Maryville on the map. Talent does not have to come from abroad to be good.

"One difficulty which the Chautauqua will have is to find another Landon. I think it will be hard to find as good a man as Manager Landon, for he not only has experience, but is a good entertainer himself."—Nathan Sisson.

"The Chautauqua closed last evening with every one in good spirits. I attended most of the sessions and found them very helpful. We had some of the best talent on the American platform. Of course, we suffered one or two disappointments; these were unavoidable.

"I will only remain a few weeks longer in this community, but I expect to take The Democrat-Forum and will look with interest for a successful Chautauqua again next year."—Rev. Claude J. Miller.

In spite of a train of misfortune which attended the Nodaway Chautauqua this year, it closed last night one of the best seasons it has ever had. Although there were no record breaking crowds at any one time, yet the attendance for the entire season was better than ever before. Up until the last day the gate receipts were running ahead of last year. A year ago Sunday the receipts were more than $400. Yesterday more than $200 were taken in, but as last Saturday's receipts were $316, the total receipts will probably run ahead of last year. Manager Landon hopes the accounts will come out even. Saturday's and Sunday's programs drew large crowds which went away well pleased with the closing attractions.

By getting the laugh on his audience and keeping them in laughter, H. V. Adams won the close attention of his audience and wound up the Chautauqua last night with one of the best lectures of the season. His subject was "Grapes of Gold," and he dealt with the power which right thinking has over the health and happiness of the physical being. That a person may think himself into sickness or health, happiness or unhappiness he showed by a number of illustrations. The best of these illustrations was one by which he fooled the audience. At the beginning of his lecture he took from his pocket a small bottle and poured from it some peppermint onto the platform. He then asked his hearers to raise their hands as soon as they detected the odors that he might determine the condition of the air currents in the tent, for he said he was a crank on ventilation. Almost at once hands were raised in all parts of the tent. Adams later told the people that the peppermint was pure water, proving his assertions about mental suggestion.

With this power which the mind has over the body, it lies with the individual to think right and thus see and have the "Grapes of Gold," the good and beautiful and happy things of life. The afternoon sermon by Dr. E. Combie Smith of Kansas City was another of the best things heard at this year's Chautauqua. He preached on "Paying the Full Price," a sermon that showed the price which has to be paid to gain success, lasting success. He illustrated it with the hardships, struggles and self-denials through which such men as Paul, Milton, Lincoln, Stevenson and others had to go to perfect their powers and win lasting success.

Because of the mistake of the booking agent it was impossible for the Ojibway Indians to get here in time for their afternoon performance Saturday. The play of "Hiawatha" which they put on at night attracted the largest crowd of the session and gratified their expectations. The costumes, setting and all were unusual and attractive, and the little people gave as their verdict that it was the best thing ever brought to any Chautauqua here.

Taken all in all this year's program was probably the best balanced of any ever given here. It gave variety, and each thing was good in its line. The two big men, largely so big because they have had lots of advertising, did not come, but every thing else was good. Medbury, Spurgeon, Smith and Adams surprised many of their hearers by the excellence of their addresses. Because they were not well known it was thought by many that they were mediocre. Those who continue to think that and who are the ones that complain most are the persons who did not attend the Chautauqua and hear them.

Camp Notes.

During the week at one of the camps, made up of young ladies, one of them had a visit from her beau one evening, which was looked upon as unpardonable by the other members of the camp, because they had forgotten to tell their beaus they could come to see them. To punish the offending girl the other girls swiped her beau's hat and pawned it at the Reuillard stand for a quarter's worth of ice cream. We didn't understand just what did happen afterward.

Senator Robert F. Wagner (on top) is the Democratic floor leader. Assemblyman Aaron J. Levy (in the middle) is the Democratic leader in the lower house. He is chairman of the board of nine managers in charge of the impeachment proceedings against Governor Sulzer of New York. Senator James J. Frawley introduced the resolution authorizing the appointment of a committee to investigate the acts of the executive and upon its adoption was made chairman of the committee which reported the articles of impeachment.

THAT LUCKY BOY HE GOT 4 YEARS

COMMERCIAL CLUB WILL PAY EXPENSES TO SEDALIA AND BACK.

THE FAIR CARES FOR HIM

Contest to Decide Who Gets the Chance Will Be Held at Court House, Saturday, September 6.

Nodaway county representatives to the Boys' State Fair school at the Missouri state fair, to be held in Sedalia, the latter part of September, will be selected at an examination to be held in the court house in Maryville, on Saturday, September 6. Only boys between the ages of 11 and 17 can compete in this contest, and an examination will be given in agriculture, arithmetic and geography. In addition to this an essay of 250 words on corn growing is required, and the boy receiving the highest average grade will represent this county at the fair school. County Superintendent Oakerson will have charge of the examination.

The lucky boy will have all his expenses paid. The Commercial club of Maryville will pay his expenses to and from Sedalia and during his stay of one week in that city, the State Fair association will provide for his board, room and an instructor to show him the exhibits on display at the fair along agricultural lines.

There ought to be any number of boys compete in this contest, as it is well worth while. Each county in the state is entitled to one representative.

CAR SHORTAGE EFFECTS TRADE.

Coal Fields Are Suffering and Also Other Business—Many Cars for Wheat and Other Grain.

According to the local freight agents, there is a freight car shortage on the railroads and nearly every car now is being used so as to ship out wheat and other grain. As it is getting near the time when many people are ordering their winter supply of coal, the shortage is becoming to be felt more and more. The following is what one paper says about the coal situation:

The long predicted and much talked of car shortage arrived in the Illinois coal field during the past week. Even though it had been expected and warning from shippers, operators and railroads have been sent broadcast, the trade is little better off for those precautions and the experiences of last year seem not to have been a sufficient lesson for the buyers of coal. Up to this time there has been very little storage and from present indications there will be little chance for storage in the future. One operator asserts that already the railroads are stealing cars and even now are unable to meet with the demands.

St. Joseph Editor Here.

Frank Freytag, editor of the St. Joseph Observer, spent the day Sunday in Maryville with Mr. and Mrs. John Sewell.

Ursel Crockett left Monday for Redding, Ia., where he was called by the thans, and the remaining 2,000 barrels Mrs. Serena Murphy, who is not expected to live.

Going to Illinois.

Mr. and Mrs. Lon Fordyce will leave Wednesday for a several weeks' visit at Kirkwood and Monmouth, Ill. At Kirkwood they will visit Mr. Fordyce's mother, Mrs. Temperance Fordyce, who is 83 years old.

Miss Dessie Hunter of Bolckow was the Chautauqua guest of Mr. and Mrs. George McMurray.

Misses Viva Cloud and Eunice Wright of Bedford spent Sunday at the Maryville Chautauqua.

SAVE YOUR COUPONS

This week at the Fern. Saturday night we will give as a prize a round trip ticket to Kansas City, Mo., over the new trolley line out of St. Joseph.

HE GOT 4 YEARS

PARNELL GREENELSH SENTENCED AFTER PLEA OF GUILTY.

3 PLEAD NOT GUILTY

Bail For Each Fixed at $800—Two Charged With Larceny and One With Forgery.

"Parnell" Greenelsh was given four years in the penitentiary Monday morning in an adjourned session of circuit court by Judge W. C. Ellison after pleading guilty to a charge of burglary and larceny. Greenelsh was the man who broke into the Burlington Junction depot a few weeks ago. He told the court this morning that he was in a drunken condition when he committed the offense.

Other criminal cases up this morning were as follows:

Walter Banta, charged with larceny of chickens in night time, pleaded guilty and then changed his plea to not guilty. He told the court that there was another boy in the case and said it was the son of Dennis Reynolds. Banta was arrested last week after having been caught taking a sack full of chickens from J. M. Korn. Banta's bail was fixed at $800 by the court.

J. C. Graves, charged with forgery, pleaded not guilty and his bail was fixed at $800, and the cause was continued.

E. E. New, charged with grand larceny, pleaded not guilty and his bail fixed at $800, and the case was continued. New is charged with stealing a motorcycle in Kansas City.

WAS BEATEN UP.

B. C. Biggerstaff, Now of Indianapolis, Attacked by Street Railway Men.

According to a dispatch from Indianapolis, Ind., B. C. Biggerstaff, formerly editor of the Maryville Tribune, was beaten up in a fight. The following is the dispatch.

B. C. Biggerstaff, reporter for an afternoon paper here, who recently came from the St. Joseph Gazette, at St. Joseph, Mo., was attacked and beaten here late yesterday afternoon by employees of the street railway company who had taken exception to the stand which his paper has taken on efforts to organize employees of the company. Several men jumped on the writer and pummeled him until he took refuge in a nearby office, from which he was later escorted by the police.

Biggerstaff was accompanying a party of the union's representatives when the attack occurred. Although the writer is a small man, his assailant, who weighs 175 pounds, mauled him severely with the aid of others in his crowd. Mike Murphy was the name given by the assailant, who was arrested. He is an inspector for the street railway.

Announce Birth of a Daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Yeaman announce the birth of a daughter, born to them Sunday.

Is Seriously Ill.

Mrs. Lafe C. Allender of Atlantic, Ia., who is at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Wallis, Sr., is seriously sick. Her husband arrived Saturday.

To Leave on Western Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Steiger of Ravenwood will leave Wednesday on a several months trip in the west. They will go to Denver, Colo., and also visit at the Steiger ranch in Colorado. They will go through Yellowstone park and then go on to the Pacific coast.

Adlebert McMillen of Pickering returned Friday from Columbia, Mo., where he has been in the State University Library there during the summer term of the school. He will leave about the middle of September for Albany, N. Y., where he will attend school for the coming year.

Col. Charles Evans and Mr. and Mrs. James Hutchison and three children, all of Parnell, were shopping in the city Monday.

TO GO OVER SOME ROADS.

County Highway Commission Will Do That and Will Then Probably Select the Routes.

The county highway commission are intending to go over some of the roads that are competing for county seat highways and after that is done, will then select the seven routes, five county seat highways and two state line roads. County Highway Engineer Clary thought the selection would be made the last of this week. S. H. Conlin of Barnard, a member of the commission, was in the city Monday in conference with Mr. Clary.

PICNIC AT GUILFORD.

The M. E. Church Sunday School of That Place to Have Big Time On Tuesday.

The M. E. church, South, Sunday school of Guilford will hold a picnic Tuesday, August 19, at the W. D. Clanchan grove, two miles east of Guilford. The speakers of the day will be Rev. Gilbert S. Cox, pastor of the First M. E. church of Maryville; President Ira Richardson of the Normal, Rev. H. C. Bollen of St. Joseph and Rev. S. E. Hoover, the pastor of the church. In the afternoon a ball game will be played between the boys of the Sunday school.

WANT REPORT OF BRIDGES.

County Highway Engineer Clary Would Like Township Board and Overseers to Make Out Report.

County Highway Engineer John Clary would like to have each township board with the overseers make out a report to him of the general condition of all the bridges in their township and district, regardless of whether they are new bridges or old bridges. He wants on the report the location of every bridge in the district or township, the kind of a bridge, its size, the condition, whether it needs repairs or if new bridge is needed, the drainage area in acres, and the amount of travel, whether a main road, a mail route road, etc.

SOLD THEIR APPLES.

Messrs. Ford and Klass Receive the Highest Price Yet for Their Crop, Estimated at 4,000 Barrels.

Mr. J. D. Ford of this city and his partner, Mr. Elias Klaas of Parnell, have just closed a deal with a firm of Atchison, Kan., who has purchased their crop of apples from their orchard, near Parnell, in the orchard.

The crop is estimated at 4,000 barrels, 2,000 barrels of which are Jonathans, and the remaining 2,000 barrels Pippins, Ganos and Ben Davis.

For the Jonathans they will receive $2.50 per bushel and for the other apples $1.85.

As the barrels average three bushels, this will bring the owners a nice sum. It is the best price they have ever received.

Here From Oklahoma.

Mrs. Robert Miller and daughter of Collinsville, Okla., arrived in Maryville Saturday noon on a visit to Mrs. Catherine Miller and Mrs. F. P. Robinson. John Miller has been here visiting several weeks. The crops in Mrs. Miller's section of Oklahoma are a complete failure, there is not a green thing visible and the dust is several inches deep.

Expected Home Thursday.

Mrs. W. M. Wallis, Jr., who has been spending the summer in Portland, Ore., is expected to arrive home Thursday.

IT'S ALL UP TO YOU

GODD ROADS EFFORT IN NODAWAY COUNTY RIGHT HERE.

YOU SHOULD GET BUSY

Talking Time Will Stop Tuesday Eve—Working Time Will Begin Wednesday.

The good roads days come on Wednesday and Thursday, August 20 and 21, according to a proclamation issued by Governor Major and the county court of Nodaway county. Everybody is called on to work these two days on the roads under the direction and supervision of the township board in each township.

In Nodaway county not much active work has been done toward any organization for these days. In Grant township and also Jackson an organization has been formed and they expect to accomplish something toward improving their roads. In the other townships in the county not much has been done.

The time for talking ends on the evening of Tuesday, and with the morning of Wednesday the time for action begins, and it's up to you to prove your faith by your works. If you are a good roads man, get busy with the plow and scraper and drag and shovel and pick and concrete mixer. Work at the job for two days, and see that your neighbors joins you.

ARE CANVASSING VOTES.

The County Court in Session Today to Cast Polk Township Good Roads Vote.

Judges John G. Thornhill and Floyd Westfall of the county court met today to cast up the vote cast in the Polk township good roads election held last Thursday. The vote was found to be the same as was given in the papers on Friday.

SUES FOR WHEAT.

Charles W. Butler Alleges That Eddie Godsey Is Wrongfully Retaining 296 Bushels of Wheat.

According to a petition filed in Circuit Clerk Rathbun's office Monday, Charles W. Butler alleges that Eddie Godsey is wrongfully retaining 296 bushels of wheat which rightfully belongs to the plaintiff. Suit for $222.50, the value of the wheat, and also for $100 for the detention of the wheat is asked for by Butler. The attorney for Butler is S. E. Browne of Hopkins.

Visitors From Kansas City.

Mrs. Joseph F. Brown and children arrived Monday noon on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hastings. Mrs. Brown left the people of her city rejoicing over a fine rain Sunday night. Mr. Brown came with his family to Maryville and went on to Bedford on business.

Former Resident Here.

William Critchfield, a former resident of Maryville, but now of Brownsville, Texas, is in Maryville on business.

Are Visiting Here.

Mrs. G. W. Nicely and son of Beatrice, Neb., are visiting in the city with Mrs. Nicely's brother, J. R. Jones.

Wouldn't Trust Him.
Although hot and exhausted, P. C. Patrick O'Brien felt not a little pleased with himself. He had just effected his first arrest since becoming a member of the force; and, more than that, an arrest certainly to be proud of. In short, after a long, exciting chase, he had captured Tom Crooke, the notorious, but elusive, housebreaker.

While he was marching to the station, however, with his prisoner, the latter's hat suddenly blew off and went scurrying away along the street.
"Lawks!" cried Tom. "There goes my 'at! Shall I run after it?"
"Phawt!" roared Pat, a wise look on his face. "You run after it and not come back again? No, my lad, you stand here; I'll get your hat."—Exchange.

Alarming Discovery.
Here is one that was told by Congressman James A. Hughes of West Virginia the other night in demonstrating that imagination plays a large part in the life of every man.
One afternoon, according to the story told by the congressman, Uncle Josh and Cousin Hez met at the corner grocery, and after comparing notes on crops and San Jose scale, the topic turned to personal health.
"As fer me," said Uncle Josh, "I have been feelin' fair ter middlin'. How hev you been yerself?"

"Purty poorly, Josh," answered Hez, with a prolonged sigh. "I was feelin' all right a day or so ago, but jes' now I seem ter have symptoms of rheumatiz, lumbegger, dyspepsy, ringworm, bronkeetus an' some more things thet I ka'n't remember."

"You don't mean it, Hez!" sympathetically responded Josh. "What in the thunderation hev ye been doin' ter yerself?"

"Nothin', Josh," replied Hez, "cept readin' a new almanac thet the drug-gist 'es' sent me."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Lying.
The essence of lying is in deception, not in words; a lie may be told by silence, by equivocation, by the accent on a syllable, by a glance of the eye attaching a peculiar significance to a sentence; and all these kinds of lies are worse and baser by many degrees than a lie plainly worded; so that no form of blinded conscience is so far sunk as that which comforts itself for having deceived because the deception was by gesture or silence, instead of utterance.—John Ruskin.

TO GET RID OF THE FLY.

What is the Best Way, According to Dr. Howard of the Bureau of Entomology.

Dr. Howard of the bureau of entomology, estimated that twelve generations of flies are hatched in a single summer. A single over-wintering mother will start about April 15 with an average of 120. At this ratio the end of the fly season would see a progeny of that one mother fly making up a tidy genealogical tree of some 1,096,181,249,720,000,000,000,000 branches, twigs and budlets. Fortunately, there are many things destructive to eggs, larva and adult flies.

One should not rest content with killing the fly, but should get rid of the places where she lays her eggs—the unsanitary closet, the manure heap, the uncovered garbage can, the putrescent dead animals along the highway. All refuse and decaying matter and all vegetable and table waste should be removed and buried or covered with lime or kerosene oil. A barrel of chloride of lime should always be on hand, from which deposits of manure, etc., should be sprinkled. Shallow dishes should be placed about the house, one in each room, containing each a teaspoonful of formaldehyde to a pint of water; or a teaspoonful of bichromate of potassium in a quarter tumblerful of water sweetened with plenty of sugar. Pyrethrum powder burned in a room stupefies the flies so that they fall to the floor and can be gathered up and burned. "No fifth—no flies—and no disease."—Medical Record.

Lies a Mirror Will Tell.

In the September Woman's Home Companion, Grace Margaret Gould, fashion editor of that periodical, writes a splendid article, entitled "The Deceitful Mirror," an extract from which follows:

"The mirror has few favorites. It is actually remarkable how the wicked thing can beguile most people into thinking they look fashionable when they don't."

"It will tell the woman whose waist measures thirty-five inches that she looks too stunning for anything in one of the new broad sashes, one that is actually fifteen inches in width and is so gaily plaided that it makes the furthest tones seem subdued."

"It will flatter the woman with enormous feet into thinking they look their smallest and best when encased in white shoes. It is a symphony in white she is fond of and she attains it, but to those who see her approaching her feet look like two of the white squadron emerging from a fog at sea."

"And the mirror deceitfully approves again. This time it is the woman who bedecks herself with artificial and natural flowers. The flower fad is in favor and she over-adopts it for her very own, not seeing, and the mirror never giving a single hint, that she looks like the decorations on a dead soldier's grave."

"The mirror is specially spiteful to the woman who believes that rouge, and a plentiful amount of it, adds to her charms. A glance in the mirror and this woman thinks she is a beauty. Others at her appearance are suddenly reminded of the gay colored totem poles."

The Shoemaker-Bovard Transfer and Coal Company

Wants your orders for Coal, and we want them early. Every advice from railroads and operators lead us to believe there will be a car shortage and that coal will be slow coming forward. Hence the early orders will have the advantage. The prices are low now, but will advance soon. Just take a few minutes and talk coal to me.

day afternoon J. A. Lorange and Robinson Craven, who were enjoying the hospitality of the I X L Embroidery club, began to be concerned as to a place of refuge for their fair entertainers, so they said. They ran across to the band stand and found they could crawl under it and be in a splendidly safe place in a storm, then returned and sat contentedly in the I X L's tent porch waiting for the impending storm that didn't break, but went around. After the scare was all over the I X L's discovered there was just barely enough room under the band stand for Mr. Lorange and Mr. Craven. "Just like a man," they said, and they're mad yet.

The Porter-Yeamans camp had quite a number of visitors Saturday, who spent the afternoon there, when it was found the Offway Indians would not appear until evening. They were Mrs. Charles Blagg, southwest of Maryville; Miss Adda McMahan of St. Joseph, Dean, Paul and Helen Irene Blagg, Mrs. I. E. Tulloch, Stewart and Virginia Tulloch, Mrs. S. A. Roach and Gordon Roach, Mrs. Lowell Campbell and Fern Campbell, all of Barnard; Mrs. B. A. Alkire and Miss Elsie Alkire.

Miss Mabel Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Douglas and Mrs. Ben Chandler of Bedford, Mrs. Neal and James Philip of Illinois were guests at dinner Saturday at the camp of Mrs. Rebecca Gray and Miss Belle Stewart.

Mrs. Thomas Mendenhall, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Mendenhall and Lawrence Mendenhall of Barnard and Miss Alma Hobart of Chester, Neb., were guests Saturday at the Swigart-Hornbuckle camp.

At Come Inn camp Willis Harry Wamsley (or Bill, as he is better known) of Arkoe came Saturday and remained until Sunday night. The other guests were Mrs. Charles Porter and son Robert of Ottawa, Kan.; Mrs. Will Espey and George Wamsley. The Sunday guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wamsley, Mrs. E. E. Woodward and Mrs. Sam Corroughs of Arkoe, G. W. Hook and daughters of Bedford, Ia.

Miss Maud McMurray of Bolckow, who was the guest of Miss Golda Airy a few days at her tent, returned home Sunday evening in the C. D. Bellows car, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Bellows, with whom she had been visiting; Mr. Dale Bellows and Miss Ella Walton Frank.

Mrs. Paul Boyer gave a week-end tent party. Her guests included Mrs. Louis Anderson, Miss Bertha Anderson, Miss Elizabeth Doran, Misses Esther and Chloe Busby.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Welch of Shenandoah arrived Saturday and were guests until Sunday evening at the camp of Dr. and Mrs. Leslie Dean. Mrs. Welch is a sister of Mrs. Dean. The visitors were accompanied home by Miss Dale Hoffman for a vacation visit.

The families of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Cummins, Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Barram and Mr. and Mrs. Byron Rhoades composed a picnic supper party in the park Sunday evening.

Mrs. Alex Fraser and Mrs. J. D. Ford served a veritable banquet in the tent auditorium Saturday evening, complimentary to the boys of the high school class of 1913, who were in camp all week for Chautauqua. The honor guests were Elmer Montgomery, Ernest Coler, Harold Booth, Walter Fraser, Ray Poland and Halley Ford. The table presented a beautiful appearance. The other guests included Miss Laurinda Craig of Bolckow, Miss Edith Davenport, Miss Mary Thomas, Miss Beulah Thompson of Guilford, Misses Cecile and Mabel Fraser, Donald Fraser of St. Joseph, Messrs. Alex Fraser and J. D. Ford, Miss Marcia Messenger and the hostesses.

Mrs. John Halasey and family, John Appleby and three daughters, Bill, Maud and Martha Helpley, Leeta Wray, Lavisa Swinford, Lucile, Grace and Mildred Wiley comprised a supper party at Chautauqua park Saturday evening in the auditorium tent.

The visitors and supper guests at Camp Hospitality Saturday evening were Mrs. W. S. Trewett, Mrs. Eugenia Schenck, Mrs. N. F. Humber and Mrs. Fred Yeomans. The guests at Sunday dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Majors of Emporia, Kan., who have been guests at the Len Fordyce home for the week, Misses Ols and Ora Young and Mrs. Solomon Clark.

Elsie and Jack, the little Indian boy and girl who were with the Offway Indians and assisted in presenting "Hiawatha" Saturday night, were Saturday afternoon guests of the girls of the Hum Drum club. Elsie, true to her Indian nature, has strong likes and dislikes. There was but one girl of the Hum Drums that she cared anything about, and she stayed by her staunchly all the time, and when any of the other girls, who really coveted her favor and regard and tried their best to win her over, came near her and offered their kindest words to her, Elsie's fighting blood came up and each received a resounding slap in the face as many times as she came, while the little blacky, beady eyes looked like coals of fire. Miss Blanche Shipps enjoyed the favor of her little Indian sister to the limit.

Jack and Elsie were supper guests at Inn All Day camp Saturday evening, and the hostesses were delighted with Elsie's pretty table manners. After supper, however, an interesting tussle took place between 4-year-old Indian Elsie and Nellie Marion Smith over the possession of the rope swing that Nellie's father had fixed for her special use at Camp Inn All Day. Nellie Marion, the 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Smith, is about the fairest haired and bluest eyed little girl one sees, and the contest she had with her little thoroughbred Indian sister made a funny sight. It looked like Nellie Marion would win, so her father and mother finally prevailed in their argument with her that she must let her company have the swing first and all the time, this time, as she was going away, for which Nellie was glad, and she could have the swing all by herself afterward.

Miss Edna Wilson of Camp Blair returned Saturday afternoon from a several days' visit with Oregon friends at their Chautauqua. She was accompanied home by Miss Beulah Klopp, Mr. Tom Milne and Mr. MacWales in Mr. Milne's car, who remained until Tuesday afternoon, returning in time for the close of the Oregon Chautauqua.

There was quite a spread at the Montgomery-Wright camp Sunday evening, when the guests included the members of the Gray-Stewart camp, the girls of Cum Wright Inn camp (excepting Miss Maurine DeHart, who ate supper with her brother, Louis DeHart), making a company of over thirty. Other guests were G. W. Swinford and family, Mrs. H. J. Parrish and Mrs. Gabe Purcell of Conception Junction.

Miss Myrtle Blanchard of Verdon, Neb., who has been the guest of Miss Ola Smith at Camp Smith during Chautauqua, went to Kansas City Monday morning to visit before returning home.

Mrs. Jose Eckles' camp guests Sunday were her daughter, Mrs. Irl Walker of Bedford, who came to Maryville Sunday morning with Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hook and daughters in their car, also Mrs. John Sewell and Miss Beatrice of Maryville, Mr. and Mrs. Gool Hayzlett of Graham and Mr. and Mrs. Nic Helzer and family and Frank Rastock of Chicago.

When Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Carmichael of Mt. Airy camp went home Saturday night to look after things at the farm, east of Maryville, their car stuck in the mud. It is thought a three-inch rain fell in that vicinity Saturday afternoon, the most welcome thing that has happened for a long time.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Kirk and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Galen Goodson of Hopkins came to Maryville Sunday morning in the doctor's car and spent the day at Chautauqua park at Camp Rest, where Dr. Kirk's mother, Miss Flora Quinn, was hostess.

Charles and Loretta Binter were the guests of Mrs. M. O'Brien at Camp Sans Souci over Saturday and Sunday.

The Dressmakers' club held a picnic supper in Chautauqua park Sunday evening.

A breakfast party at Waukon Inn was a pleasant feature Sunday morning. The preparation and serving of the menu and its enjoyment lasted from 7 to 10:30, owing to the very congenial company present, we presume. Those present were Mrs. Pierce, hostess; Miss Stahl, Miss Eichmiller, Henry Toel of St. Joseph, Messrs. Hanna and Leffler.

Rev. and Mrs. S. E. Hoover and son, Mr. and Mrs. Stoneburner and daughter and Miss Nellie Sims of Ravenwood were Chautauqua visitors Sunday.

Mrs. George W. Rose of Stanberry was the guest at Camp Smith Sunday of her daughter, Miss Virginia Rose.

Robert Medsker of Graham was the guest of Glen Daise and Alva Hill at their camp Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Burris and family, who were compelled to leave their camp the middle of the week on account of sickness among the children, returned Saturday night and remained until Sunday night, when they broke camp and went to their home near Graham. G. B. Holmes, Jr., was their guest at breakfast Sunday morning. They were accompanied home by Miss Nellie Pigg of Kansas City, a

NODAWAY VALLEY BANK

OLDEST BANK IN THE COUNTY

Capital and Surplus $125,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

The officers of the Nodaway Valley Bank wish to announce the establishment of a SAVINGS DEPARTMENT in connection with this institution.

This department will take care of your savings, paying interest semi-annually, and render every assistance in cultivating the habit of saving money.

No one need be ashamed to save money. No one need be ashamed to start with as little as a dollar. The habit of saving money, if persisted in, is bound to make for financial independence and to make a good citizen of the "man with the habit" as well.

You may start an account in our SAVINGS DEPARTMENT with a dollar and make deposits from time to time. No red tape. No formality. Simplest thing in the world, and think what it means.

The SAVINGS DEPARTMENT of the NODAWAY VALLEY BANK will open for business on

FRIDAY, AUGUST 22, 1913

Hours 9 a. m. to 3 p. m.

On all accounts opened before September 1st, 1913, interest will be allowed from August 15th, 1913.

Don't overlook this invitation to start a SAVINGS ACCOUNT. Drop in next time you are passing and get started. We have a book for YOU.

cousin of Mrs. Burris, who will spend several days with them. Miss Pigg has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Holmes for a week.

The guests at Camp Idlewild Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Ullie Craig of Bolckow, Rev. and Mrs. C. H. John, Mrs. Alice Nelson and Miss Melinda Castillo of Elmo and Mr. and Mrs. James Galbraith of Bolckow.

Miss Quete Morgan of Parnell arrived Saturday night and remained over Sunday the guest at Always Inn camp.

Dr. G. A. Nash and Governor Stubbs (that's his dog) visited Chautauqua park for the first time Sunday evening since the entertainments began, and were supper guests at Camp Chaparron, where Mrs. Nash was hostess. After supper the doctor and Governor Stubbs sat in the tent porch and enjoyed a smoke together to the amusement of many. The governor has to have his pipe, a cob with a stick in it, every time the doctor smokes, or he won't let his master smoke.

Miss Glen Hotchkiss and Miss Carrie Margaret Baker were the hostesses of a 12 o'clock dinner at the Hum Drum camp Saturday. The table was very attractive in decorations of sunflowers. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Oliver K. Bovard, who brought the girls a handsome box of candy; Miss Hettie Anthony, Miss Alice Porter, Lieber Holmes, Clarence Perry, Miss Margaret Chilton, Miss Dorothy Dunn of Chicago, Edward Gray, Herschel Colbert, Donald Williams, Roland Curran and Mrs. Anna Hotchkiss. The Sunday guests at noon luncheon at this camp were Edward Gray, Virgil Lyle, Orlo Quinn, Kirby Taylor, Lieber Holmes, Clarence Perry. The chaparrons for Saturday and Sunday night were Miss Alice Porter and Miss Frances Smith.

The Kidd Inn camp had for its guests Saturday afternoon Mrs. Charles Shipps and daughters, Thelma, Hester and Helen, of Arkoe; Mrs. Will Espey and son, and their guest, Mrs. Charles Porter and son of Ottawa, Kan. Their guests on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Lester Bennett and Miss Helen Glaze of St. Joseph, who is a niece of Mrs. Orville Bennett, one of the hostesses at Kind Inn camp.

Kamp Skott had several guests Saturday and Sunday, including Miss Anna Houston, John, Herschel and Louis Houston and Mrs. W. N. Houston, the mother and sister and brothers of the hostess, Mrs. Emmett Scott, and Russell Good, all of Burlington Junction.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Johnson and children and Mr. and Mrs. Miles Fast of Burlington Junction were Chautauqua visitors Sunday, making the trip in Mr. Fast's car.

Mrs. Alice Nelson and Miss Melinda Castillo of Elmo were Chautauqua visitors Sunday. They are the guests of Mrs. N. B. Lamar.

The B. C. B. club of Skidmore entertained at their camp Sunday Mrs. J. Knepper, Mrs. S. O. Keever and Mrs. A. L. Oakerson, living southwest of Maryville, and their guest, Mrs. W. T. S. Hunt of Oklahoma City. Mrs. Hunt is quite a literary woman and has written short stories for Oklahoma City papers and other publications for several years. The guests at this camp Saturday evening were Miss Lulu Jones of Skidmore and Will O'Grady.

Miss Grace Ross and Mrs. W. M. Henson of Hopkins were among the Chautauqua visitors Sunday.

At the Baker camp Sunday the visitors were Miss Carrie McClurg of Pickering, Miss Hattie Patterson, Scott Jolly and Hovey Manning of McFall and Clyde Patterson, all guests of Miss Bernice Baker.

Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Pollard, Mrs. Emma Wiley, Miss Lelia Wiley, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Campbell and Miss Fern Campbell composed two auto parties from Barnard Sunday for an all-day stay at the Chautauqua. Miss Wiley is a reporter on the Rosendale Signal, and was connected with the Barnard Bulletin until that paper succumbed a few months ago.

The Makes No Never Mind camp gave a watermelon luncheon Saturday night after the program. The guests were Mr. C. B. Colt of St. Joseph, who arrived on the evening train to join Mrs. Colt, who has been the guest at this camp all during Chautauqua; Prof. W. M. Oakerson, Prof. A. H. Cooper of the Grant City schools, W. G. Sawyers, A. F. Harvey, Misses Alma and Mae Hotchkiss, Helen McNellis, Mrs. Colt, Dr. Mabel Willet and Miss Nelle Tobin of Burlington Junction.

Miss Nelle Tobin of Burlington Junction, who was a guest for several days at Makes No Never Mind camp, went to the home of her brother, P. J. Tobin, north of Maryville, Monday to spend a few days.

The visitors at Elmo camp Saturday were Miss Vinnie Tudder, Mrs. Charles Griffey and son and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Lamar.

GUILFORD ITEMS.

A good shower fell here this morning, which added to the rain of Saturday, did much good to the crops.

I. J. Lanning and family of Savannah are visiting relatives near here.

Matthew Whiteford went to St. Joseph today with four car loads of fat steers and a car load of hogs.

Mrs. James A. McNulty of St. Joseph arrived Monday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Montgomery and other friends. Miss McNulty's daughter, Miss Grace McNulty, has been visiting in the city for the past few days.

ASK EXPULSION OF HALE AS SPYMexican Press Declares He is Working for Intervention.

RABID ATTACK MADE UPON HIM

Effort Made to Apply Article of Constitution to American—Waiting for Reply of Huerta, Which is Expected
This Week—Hopeful of Situation.

Mexico City, Aug. 18.—Popular interest in the outcome of John Lind's
visit to Mexico as the personal representative of President Wilson was divided by the efforts of a portion of the local press to secure the application of article 33 of the constitution to
Dr. William Bayard Hale, who for some time has been investigating conditions in Mexico on behalf of the United States government. Article 33
is the clause that provides for the expulsion of pernicious foreigners.

The Independent, which is extremely rabid in its attack on him, suggests editorially that President Huerta expel Dr. Hale, who is characterized as a spy and declared to be working to bring about intervention.

In the week that has elapsed since
Mr. Lind arrived in the capital public sentiment toward him has been modified and the opinion now prevails that not all of the government officials are as ready to summarily reject his proposals as was indicated before he reached the capital. There is reason to believe that whatever the Mexican reply will be, it will be made within two or three days and that by the end of the week Mr. Lind will be on his way to the United States.

TO STUDY SCHOOL HYGIENE

Teachers and Experts From All Over
World Will Gather in Buffalo Soon.

Buffalo, Aug. 18.—The health of the school children of the United States
and other parts of the world will be the leading subject of discussion at the fourth international congress on school hygiene, which meets in Buffalo on Aug. 25 and continues for five days.

The schoolroom is a growing source of tuberculosis, according to authorities who have been tracing America's most dreaded plague for several years.
School teachers will come from every state in the union and from many of the countries abroad to hear the discussions by experts of schoolroom health. They will have a direct interest in the discussions, which will show that school teachers have been the most available victims of the white plague.

The program will consist of discussions of sex and personal hygiene, play
and athletics, and health and medical inspection. Speakers from the United States, Canada, and the countries of Europe will tell about the best in their schools.

TOURNEY FOR HEAVYWEIGHTS

Elimination Contest to Be Staged for Big Guns in New York.

New York, Aug. 18.—The petty bickerings among fight promoters and managers in all parts of the country
having resulted in nothing so far as locating a heavyweight champion is concerned, New York has determined to stage an elimination tournament on its own account, with a championship belt awaiting the winner. Billy Gibson announced that he would offer
such a belt. There will be at least four of the leading heavyweights in the tournament, perhaps more.

"Gunboat" Smith, "Fireman Jim"
Flynn and Al Palzer have been tentatively selected as the contestants for the championship. The bouts will be held at various periods during the summer, with the idea in view of awarding the belt before Sept. 1. All
the bouts will be staged in this city,
probably at Madison Square garden.

MRS. McALPINE ON STAND

Tells of Mysterious Death of Rich
Spouse at Duluth.

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 18.—The coroner's jury investigating the mysterious
death of John McAlpine, millionaire
lumberman, resumed work today. Mc-Alpine's body was found in the basement of his home here with a bullet wound in the head.

Mrs. John McAlpine was closely examined. Her testimony was to the effect that it was her belief that Mc-Alpine had died as the result of the accidental discharge of his own revolver, and in this belief she was borne out by her son, Dale McAlpine.
The revolver, which was found by the police beneath the cellar steps, at the inquest was identified as one belonging to Mr. McAlpine. One bullet had been discharged from the gun.

Tax Dodger Draws $200 Fine.

Richmond, Mo., Aug. 18.—Andrew
Wells, a capitalist, who was one of the men indicted here for tax dodging,
was allowed to plead guilty before Circuit Judge Dreibliss to a charge of having withheld $600 from the assess-
or. He was fined $200.

General Moderation.

Washington, Aug. 18.—Temperatures
near or below the average for the season will prevail throughout the greater part of the country this week, according to the weather bureau experts.

HARRY THAW
MAKES ESCAPEFlees From Matteawan in Auto
Toward Connecticut Line.

AUTHORITIES GIVE VAIN CHASE

Hospital Authorities Believe Fugitive
Gone to Shore of Long Island Sound
and Off to Europe on Yacht—Attendant Under Arrest.

Matteawan, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Harry
K. Thaw, the slayer of Stanford White, escaped from the hospital for the criminal insane here at 7:45 a. m. A dart for liberty through an open gate,
a dash into the open door of a powerful automobile that stood quivering
outside, and flight like a rocket for
the Connecticut state line, thirty miles away, accomplished his escape.

He is still at large and the hospital
authorities feel certain he is outside
the state. Once beyond its boundaries, Thaw is free. Only perhaps years of litigation can bring him back and then only in one event—that he be adjudged insane in the state to which he has fled.

Five Men the Car.

Five confederates manned the car
in which Thaw escaped and a big black limousine, which trailed it past
the asylum gate. The police have their license and the names under which they registered at a local hotel
and are seeking them.

The hospital authorities believe
Thaw has fled to the shore of Long Island sound and boarded a yacht, waiting with steam up, to rush him to Europe.

A reward of $500 for Thaw's apprehension has been offered by Dr. R. F.
C. Kelb, superintendent of the asylum.
Howard H. Barnum, the attendant at the gate, past whom Thaw flashed in his break for freedom, is under arrest
and other arrests are expected to follow in the rigid investigation begun
by Dr. Kelb.

The shades were drawn in the dormitories and the inmates were getting their second sleep when Thaw left his room. He was fully dressed. The milkman's cart was on the road outside as he walked through the store
room and into the outer court or yard
of the asylum grounds. Barnum, sole attendant at the road gate, was pacing back and forth when Thaw closed the store room door behind him, and apparently did not grasp the significance of Thaw's early rising.

Followed by Limousine.

A six-cylinder touring car, black and
sixty-horsepower, followed by a limosine, also black, loaded lazily along the road as the milkman drew near the gate. Thaw, standing a few feet away, apparently unconcerned, waited till Barnum unlocked the gate and swung it wide to let the milkman enter. At the same moment the two cars drew up on the further side of the road, opposite the gate, and stood still, their engines throbbing. As Barnum stepped aside for the milkman to drive inside
the grounds, he heard the gravel crunch beneath Thaw's feet, and looking up saw the prisoner flash past him
straight for one of the waiting cars.
With a shout Barnum started in pursuit, but a flying leap landed Thaw safely within the car. The wheels were slowly turning before the keeper had fairly reached the roadway. They were throwing up a cloud of dust before he had gone twenty feet.

The great black car flashed like a thunderbolt through Stormville, ten miles east of Matteawan, along the road to the Connecticut line. Early risers saw three men—and Thaw—
crouching low to escape the sweep of their rush through the air. They were going seventy miles an hour.

Telephone Police.

Barnum's breathless declaration at
the asylum, "Thaw's escaped," brought
Dr. Kieb to his feet like a pistol shot.
Within a moment he was standing at the telephone and as Barnum poured
the story into his ears, repeated it
over the wire to police headquarters.
Matteawan became the center of a widening ripple of telephone and telegraph alarm as Dr. Kieb planned pursuit.

He might as well have tried to chase
a twelve-inch shell. The ten minute start, the high power of the car in which Thaw made his flight, the nearness of the Connecticut state line, toward which Thaw was heading and the interior power of the pursuing cars militated against him and made the chase hopeless.

MICHIGAN LAW OUSTS SEERS

General Exodus of Clairvoyants Following Taking Effect of Statute.

Battle Creek, Mich., Aug. 18.—There
has been a general exodus of clairvoy-ants, fake doctors, seers and necro-mancers in view of the state law
which took effect making it unlawful
for them to ply their trade in Michigan.
Sanitarium visitors have caused many of the fortune tellers to locate here.

Many have virtually had gold mines,
as numerous persons who come here
for treatment are in a weak mental condition, and easily fall victims to the wiles of the mysterious.

Relief in Kansas.

Kansas City, Aug. 18.—Heavy showers over most of the eastern half of Kansas added to the relief and it is believed the drought is now effectually broken.

Miss Effie Collins Married.

Miss Effie Collins, formerly of Maryville, and Mr. John M. Crozier of Wauweta, Wyo., were married June 11
last at Wauweta. The announcement of the marriage was brought to Maryville Saturday by Lex Collins, who is here for a few days' visit with his sister, Miss Rose Collins. Lex Collins
and Misses Effie and Gladys Collins
left Maryville a year and a half ago
to take up a claim in Wyoming, lived together on their land and have been very successful. Mr. Crozier was a neighbor ranchman and one of the first people with whom they became acquainted. Miss Gladys Collins is teaching school near Wauweta. Lex Collins, who was a reporter on the Tribune at the time he went to Wyoming,
is on his way to Des Moines to attend
a business college.

FIRE CAPTAIN FATALLY HURT

Pulmotor Saves One Victim of $120,000
Blaze at Omaha.

Omaha, Aug. 18.—Captain John Engle of engine company No. 1 is in St. Joseph's hospital with a fractured skull, sustained at a fire on Howard street, between Fifteenth and Sixteenth. He fell from a window a distance of eighteen feet and alighted on his head. His injuries may prove fatal. Fireman Charles Baarman was overcome by smoke while working at the rear of the burning building, and was dragged unconscious from danger by his comrades. He was revived by prompt use of the pulmotor.

Loss of $120,000 was sustained by the tenants and owner of the building occupied by the Omaha Gas company, the Burgess-Graden Electric Fixtures and Supply company and Rubel Bros.

Striking Girls Arrested.

St. Louis, Aug. 18.—Ten striking garment workers and a private detective were arrested here as a result of disturbances in front of factories against which a strike had been declared. Several of those arrested were young women. They are charged with trying to interfere with the police. Three women were arrested on a charge of threatening to whip girls if they did not join the strike.

Forest Fires Raging in Alaska.
Seward, Alaska, Aug. 18.—Forest fires are raging in the vicinity of Kenai lake, twenty-five miles from Seward. A high wind is blowing and the fire is beyond control.

FIREMAN VICTIM OF GRAND ISLAND BLAZE

Property Worth $70,000 is Destroyed by Fire.

Grand Island, Neb., Aug. 18.—Tony Fleischer, fireman, aged twenty-five years, was killed and about $70,000 worth of property was destroyed in a fire which at one time threatened to traverse the heart of the railroad section. The department succeeded in keeping the fire confined to the livery barn in which it started and the adjacent lumber yard and planing mill of the Geer-Harrison company.

Fleischer was directing one of the streams of water on the fire at the planing mill, with a position in the alley. The heat of the flames from the livery stable melted a wire of the electric company, the wire being charged with 2,300 volts, and it dropped down on the fireman.

The fire originated in the hayloft of the Black & Rhodes livery stable. There were about thirty animals in the barn, and all but twelve were released.

NEW YORK GIANTS CONTINUE TO CLIMB

Bad Week for the Philadelphia Athletics.

New York, Aug. 18.—Baseball play in the major leagues for the week developed the continued strength of the New York Giants and the possible break in the heretofore impregnable defense of the Philadelphia American league team. McGraw's team won five games and lost one during the week, gaining a half game on Philadelphia.

In the American league, Philadelphia won two and lost three, but the games won represented the total of two series, Chicago and Cleveland both taking three out of four. In both series Mack's pitchers could not stop the hitting of the opposition, Cleveland especially making scores almost at will.

Mine Worker Killed in Gun Duel.
Trinidad, Colo., Aug. 18.—Gerald Lippitt, a member of the United Mine Workers, here to attend the State Federation of Labor convention, was shot and killed in a revolver duel with G. W. Belcher, an operative of a private detective agency. Belcher was shot in the left leg. He and a man named Walker Belk are under arrest.

GENEROUS DEEDS ON RECORD

Many employers during recent years have shown their generosity to their employees by leaving them legacies. When Thomas Edward Walton of Oakleigh, Portland, Bowdoin, Cheshire, died he left a will bequeathing $12,500 and one-third of his residuary estate to Frances Nixon, in his service at the date of the will. Mr. Walton left an estate of $125,000 gross value.

Very generous indeed was a German merchant named Hinkel, resident in Moscow. By his will, proved a little while ago, he bequeathed his business and his fortune, amounting to $2,500,000, to his employees. All members of the staff, including clerks, bookkeepers, packers, porters and doorkeepers, were to have a share in the dead man's business and an amount of money to be reckoned on the basis of the first annual wage multiplied by the number of years they had been in the service.

Those who had worked for him for less than five years were to receive a joint sum of $50,000, which was to be divided according to wages and length of service.

A London solicitor with a large practice called a young lawyer, whom he had employed for several years. Into his private office one afternoon some years ago and offered him his business as a gift. The young solicitor naturally accepted it, and he is now a well-known lawyer with a fortune exceeding that of his generous predecessor.

NEW STORIES OF BISMARCK

The memoirs of M. Antoine de Werner contain many interesting recollections of eminent persons with whom the famous painter came into contact. During the Franco-Prussian war he was on the staff of the crown prince, and when installed in the headquarters of Versailles came into close contact with Bismarck, who had a fund of jovial, if somewhat brutal, conversation. After an interview with Jules Favre, the iron chancellor was asked what he thought of the French advocate-minister. "We got on very well," said Bismarck, "from the very start, because he has such big feet that he looks more like a German than a Frenchman."

In 1887 the painter accompanied the crown prince on his journey to Italy. When leaving the staff at Darmstadt he was charged with the following message to the prince of Battenberg by the crown princess: "Tell him from me that King Humbert spoke flatteringly of his renunciation of the Bulgarian throne, 'Prince Alexander has lost a crown, but gained an aureole.'" Werner gave the message, and the prince replied: "It would all have been different but for Bismarck. Supported by him, I would have resisted a hundred thousand devils. He turned his back on me, and I had to give up."

Clergyman Band Leader.

A military band with a clergyman as conductor is a combination which probably is to be found only at Illogan, Cornwall, England, where the rector, the Rev. Henry Oxland, has just completed his twenty-seventh year as conductor of the local military band. The rector and his thirty-two musicians, nearly all of whom are tin miners, are familiar figures throughout West Cornwall, the band being very popular at various public functions. The "season" has just begun, and henceforth the band will be in great request for fetes, horse shows, and sports meetings. During the last quarter of a century many of the old members have emigrated to America, and no fewer than fourteen bands have been started there by Cornishmen who formerly played in the Illogan band under the conductorship of the rector.

Early Responsibility.

A mother who is anxious to teach her children to think for themselves, and to become responsible creatures as early as possible, says an allowance is the best plan. Even a few cents a week, as soon as they are old enough to want to spend a cent, will help in teaching them that they can have just so much for so much, and that one thing must be given up in order to acquire another. It need not be only getting their will practice with their pennies; the idea of giving can also be imparted by a thoughtful mother, though stopping this kind of making them young Dickens. It was not voluntary giving Dickens had in mind when he traced his pen picture of these young martyrs to a mission-loving mother.

Artificial Ice.

The method commonly used in making ice for commercial production is to sink oblong tin boxes containing distilled or filtered water into tanks of salt water, through which run iron pipes. Then compressed ammonia gas is released in these pipes and by rapid expansion produces an intense cold that freezes the water in the tin boxes into cakes averaging 200 to 300 pounds in weight. In cold storage the same process is used minus the water. The iron pipes into which the compressed ammonia goes run on the side or top, or both, of the cold storage room and causes it to become freezing cold.

WALSER'S OLD CLOCK

It Ran for Years, but All Was Forgotten When It Suddenly Stopped.

By HAROLD CARTER.

The old clockmaker was seated in his office, his head upon his hands, his elbows on his desk, pondering. He occupied a tiny office in an old-fashioned part of New York, downtown, and he had sat there for a great part of each day since he came to America fifty years before, bringing with him the skill of twelve generations of Swiss clockmakers. Walser's clocks never varied by more than five minutes a year. Great, old-fashioned grandfather's clocks they were, and because the modern fashion is for cheap and gaudy things, he sold only to a few old-fashioned customers, and his whole stock was stored in the small warehouse and workshop at the back of his office. But he had hoped to hand down the business to his successors—yes, he had hoped that the tradition would not die out with him.

And he had driven Ernst, his only son, his only child, out of his home for ever. Ernst was the last of the Walsers, and with his action he had effectively cut himself off from all the generations that were to come. How foolish his quarrel had been! It was about a girl whom Ernst wanted to marry, and because he had not told his father all about it old Walser had taken umbrage.

"Who is she?" he asked angrily. And Ernst answered that she was a domestic servant. Then the old man's anger flared out, for the Walsers traced their descent from princes and Walser had mixed so little with his kind that the old traditions lingered.

If he had been less angry and Ernst less proud he would have learned that Elsa was studying social science and had taken her position for reasons which certainly were no discredit to her. But the embittered old man was not in any mood to listen to reason, nor Ernst to explain. Old Walser turned to his son.

He pointed to an old clock which had ticked away the hours minute by minute ever since he had brought it to America.

"Ernst," he said hoarsely, "that clock was made by my father for his serene highness the prince of Lutterling. My father was once engaged to marry the prince's daughter. She died, but the match was never considered unequal. The Walsers have been a proud old family though they are clockmakers. And you—you—you are going to marry a servant."

"Well, marry her, but from this moment you are no longer a Walser. I disown you by the memory of my father." He pointed still to the timepiece. "When that clock, which my father made in 1833, goes wrong by as much as ten minutes in a day, I will ask you to come back to me," he said. "Now go!"

And Ernst went. The old clock never varied by as much as a minute a day. Its melancholy tick was wearing the old man's heart away. He moaned in his misery as he sat at his desk. How gladly he would have had his son back, servant wife and all! If only he had not been so hasty!

A good boy, too—Ernst had always been a good son to him. He had never thwarted or crossed him until that furious quarrel began. And now Ernst was starting in a garret in Washington square—so much he had learned. And he was married to his servant wife. Their lives were abjectly miserable, for the boy was working as a shipping clerk at ten dollars a week!

He swung round in his chair and shook his fist at the old clock.

"You swine, you dog, you pig!" he shouted. "Can't you go wrong just for this once, so that I can keep my word and ask my son to come back to me?" He swept his fingers across the glass, and the clock ticked heavily in answer.

And then a wonderful thing happened. A sudden whirring sound was heard, and the hands began racing furiously round and round the old Roman figures that marked the face of the dial. Round and round they ran, once, twice, and now so fast that Walser could not distinguish anything except a blur. And then they stopped and the old clock stood still at half past four.

That was the precise time at which Ernst put on his hat and left the house.

The old man fell back in his chair and stared in astonishment at this phenomenon.

Presently, when curiosity overcame his terror, he opened the case and peered in. And swiftly enough the cause was revealed. Wedged tightly into the mechanism was a clockwork mouse.

It must have laid for years unnoticed inside the case, until it had been jarred down by the tapping of his fingers. Its cogs had become entangled with the cogs of the mechanism, and, happening to be wound up, the clockwork of the mouse had gone off, sending the hands flying round the dial till it ran down.

Walser drew out the mouse and looked at it. It was a rusty ancient toy such as is retailed upon the streets for a nickel, or perhaps a dime. Half of the tail was gone, and the beady eyes stared out of a battered and moldy face. Then the old man remembered. Years before he had brought that mouse home for his son Ernst, in the days when he was a baby, playing about the floor of the nursery. The child must have placed his toy inside the old clock and forgotten all about it.

Walser rose up solemnly and put on his hat. He turned to the clock and his voice was choking with emotion.

"I know now," he said, "that this is a judgment and a miracle in one." And he thought of his father, the old clockmaker, and how he had been wont to tell him that the good deeds which are done always bring results, even in other lives. He did not doubt that because his father had been an honest craftsman, his handiwork had borne witness to him, for his own sake.

Ten minutes later he got off a street car at Washington square. He arrived at a dingy, shabby house, and, scanning the list of names on the unpainted letter boxes, discovered that of his son. Walser made his way up to the top floor and knocked.

A comely young woman came to the door.

"You are—?" queried Walser.

"I am Mrs. Walser," she answered in a very sweet voice. "You have business with my husband?"

"You are my son's wife?" shouted the old man. "Why, I thought—I thought—"

And suddenly he flung his arms about her and drew her to him and kissed her. And at the audible sound Ernst came to the door, looking shabby and thin, but with fire in his eye and fists doubled to repel this assault upon the sanctity of his home. Seeing his father he halted dead.

"Come here, my boy," cried the old man. "It's all forgotten—the clock ran down. Come home with me and I will tell you all about it."

CHINA'S APPEAL FOR PRAYER

"Can't Do Harm; May Do Good," an Official of the New Cabinet Has Announced.

The Chinese cabinet has issued an appeal for the prayers of Christians for the national assembly and the newly established government. A Chinese official discussing the notification said:

"The majority of intellectual Chinese incline today toward Christianity or free thought. Many members of the newly elected national assembly both in the senate and the house of representatives, are Christians and there is every indication that Christianity will spread still more rapidly when the new government has its educational and social projects in working order."

The non-Christian Chinese official takes the same view as the Roman pro-consul that such prayers can do no harm and may do good. In addition to securing the support of a powerful section of the people. But the conviction is gaining ground that if Christianity is to become a vital factor in Chinese national life, it must be free from foreign control, for it has always been against the Christian as a foreigner, and not as the upholder of a new creed, that Chinese resentment has been shown in the past. There is a vigorous movement on foot for the foundation of a Chinese Free church, Protestant in character and free from the control of European bishops and missionaries. The minister of foreign affairs and the present minister in Berlin are both supporters of this movement, which is gaining ground steadily.

Fear Effect on Soldiers.

Emperor William of Germany has forbidden any paintings dealing with the Franco-German war to be included in the forthcoming jubilee art exhibition at Berlin, and in particular those of Anton von Werner, whose brush was employed to glorify the leading incidents of Sedan and the proclamation of the German empire at Versailles. But the emperor has not yet gone so far as to cease holding his annual review of the guards at Berlin on Sedan day—which continues to be a thorn in the flesh of the French. When Vereshchagin, the Russian painter, had an exhibition at Berlin of his realistic scenes from the campaign of 1877 the old kaiser forbade his soldiers to go and see them on the ground that they would inspire a horror of war.

Valuable Improvement.

"What do you think of this proposed telephone attachment to enable the talkers to also see each other?" "It will be fine. Then I can call up my husband to tell me if my hat is on straight."

MARYVILLE, MISSOURI, MONDAY, AUG. 18, 1913.

NO. 65.

WILL BREAK EVEN

DESPITE ILL-FORTUNE CHAUTAUQUA ATTENDANCE KEPT UP.

THREE FINE NUMBERS

Dr. Smith and Dr. Adams Among Best Lecturers Ever Here—"Hiawatha" Was Up to Expectations.

"The Chautauqua was a No. 1, a complete success. I think that it is the best thing that comes to Maryville, and the people here should put their shoulders to the wheel to keep it going and growing. The failure of two numbers on the program is a thing that will happen to any Chautauqua. It was absolutely unavoidable, and no one here is to blame.

"Yesterday's afternoon and evening programs were as good as anything that has ever been brought here. A man who was walking through the grounds last evening asked me what band was playing. He was surprised to learn that it was the Maryville Concert band, and said that it was playing as well as any band that has been brought here. The ladies band must be commended, too. It is the organization which put Maryville on the map. Talent does not have to come from abroad to be good.

"One difficulty which the Chautauqua will have is to find another Landon. I think it will be hard to find as good a man as Manager Landon, for he not only has experience, but is a good entertainer himself."—Nathanjel Sisson.

"The Chautauqua closed last evening with every one in good spirits. I attended most of the sessions and found them very helpful. We had some of the best talent on the American platform. Of course, we suffered one or two disappointments; these were unavoidable.

"I will only remain a few weeks longer in this community, but I expect to take The Democrat-Forum and will look with interest for a successful Chautauqua again next year."—Rev. Claude J. Miller.

In spite of a train of misfortune which attended the Nodaway Chautauqua this year, it closed last night one of the best seasons it has ever had. Although there were no record breaking crowds at any one time, yet the attendance for the entire season was better than ever before. Up until the last day the gate receipts were running ahead of last year. A year ago Sunday the receipts were more than $400. Yesterday more than $200 were taken in, but as last Saturday's receipts were $316, the total receipts will probably run ahead of last year. Manager Landon hopes the accounts will come out even. Saturday's and Sunday's programs drew large crowds which went away well pleased with the closing attractions.

By getting the laugh on his audience and keeping them in laughter, H. V. Adams won the close attention of his audience and wound up the Chautauqua last night with one of the best lectures of the session. His subject was "Grapes of Gold," and he dealt with the power which right thinking has over the health and happiness of the physical being. That a person may think himself into sickness or health, happiness or unhappiness he showed by a number of illustrations. The best of these illustrations was one by which he fooled the audience. At the beginning of his lecture he took from his pocket a small bottle and poured from it some peppermint onto the platform. He then asked his hearers to raise their hands as soon as they detected the odors that he might determine the condition of the air currents in the tent, for he said he was a crank on ventilation. Almost at once hands were raised in all parts of the tent. Adams later told the people that the peppermint was pure water, proving his assertions about mental suggestion.

With this power which the mind has over the body, it lies with the individual to think right and thus see and have the "Grapes of Gold," the good and beautiful and happy things of life.

The afternoon sermon by Dr. E. Comble Smith of Kansas City was another of the best things heard at this year's Chautauqua. He preached on "Paying the Full Price," a sermon that showed the price which has to be paid to gain success, lasting success. He illustrated it with the hardships, struggles and self-denials through which such men as Paul, Milton, Lincoln, Stevenson and others had to go to perfect their powers and win lasting success.

Because of the mistake of the booking agent it was impossible for the Offibway Indians to get here in time for their afternoon performance Saturday. The play of "Hiawatha" which they put on at night attracted the largest crowd of the session and gratified their expectations. The costumes, setting and all were unusual and attractive, and the little people gave as their verdict that it was the best thing ever brought to any Chautauqua here.

Taken all in all this year's program was probably the best balanced of any ever given here. It gave variety, and each thing was good in its line. The two big men, largely so big because they have had lots of advertising, did not come, but every thing else was good. Medbury, Spurgeon, Smith and Adams surprised many of their hearers by the excellence of their addresses. Because they were not well known it was thought by many that they were mediocre. Those who continue to think that and who are the ones that complain most are the persons who did not attend the Chautauqua and hear them.

Camp Notes.

During the week at one of the camps, made up of young ladies, one of them had a visit from her beau one evening, which was looked upon as unpardonable by the other members of the camp, because they had forgotten to tell their beaus they could come to see them. To punish the offending girl the other girls swiped her beau's hat and pawned it at the Reuillard stand for a quarter's worth of ice cream. We didn't understand just what did happen afterward.

Senator Robert F. Wagner (on top) is the Democratic floor leader. Assemblyman Aaron J. Levy (in the middle) is the Democratic leader in the lower house. He is chairman of the board of nine managers in charge of the impeachment proceedings against Governor Sulzer of New York. Senator James J. Frawley introduced the resolution authorizing the appointment of a committee to investigate the acts of the executive and upon its adoption was made chairman of the committee which reported the articles of impeachment.

THAT LUCKY BOY HE GOT 4 YEARS

COMMERCIAL CLUB WILL PAY EXPENSES TO SEDALIA AND BACK.

THE FAIR CARES FOR HIM 3 PLEAD NOT GUILTY

Contest to Decide Who Gets the Chance Will Be Held at Court House, Saturday, September 6.

Nodaway county representatives to the Boys' State Fair school at the Missouri state fair, to be held in Sedalia, the latter part of September, will be selected at an examination to be held in the court house in Maryville, on Saturday, September 6. Only boys between the ages of 11 and 17 can compete in this contest, and an examination will be given in agriculture, arithmetic and geography. In addition to this an essay of 250 words on corn growing is required, and the boy receiving the highest average grade will represent this county at the fair school. County Superintendent Oakerson will have charge of the examination.

The lucky boy will have all his expenses paid. The Commercial club of Maryville will pay his expenses to and from Sedalia and during his stay of one week in that city, the State Fair association will provide for his board, room and an instructor to show him the exhibits on display at the fair along agricultural lines.

There ought to be any number of boys compete in this contest, as it is well worth while. Each county in the state is entitled to one representative.

CAR SHORTAGE EFFECTS TRADE.

Coal Fields Are Suffering and Also Other Business—Many Cars for Wheat and Other Grain.

According to the local freight agents, there is a freight car shortage on the railroads and nearly every car now is being used so as to ship out wheat and other grain. As it is getting near the time when many people are ordering their winter supply of coal, the shortage is becoming to be felt more and more. The following is what one paper says about the coal situation:

The long predicted and much talked of car shortage arrived in the Illinois coal field during the past week. Even though it had been expected and warning from shippers, operators and railroads have been sent broadcast, the trade is little better off for those precautions and the experiences of last year seem not to have been a sufficient lesson for the buyers of coal. Up to this time there has been very little storage and from present indications there will be little chance for storage in the future. One operator asserts that already the railroads are stealing cars and even now are unable to meet with the demands.

St. Joseph Editor Here.

Frank Freytag, editor of the St. Joseph Observer, spent the day Sunday in Maryville with Mr. and Mrs. John Sewell.

Left for Redding.

Ursel Crockett left Monday for Redding, Ia., where he was called by the thans, and the remaining 2,000 barrels Mrs. Serena Murphy, who is not expected to live.

Going to Illinois.

Mr. and Mrs. Lon Fordyce will leave Wednesday for a several weeks' visit at Kirkwood and Monmouth, Ill. At Kirkwood they will visit Mr. Fordyce's mother, Mrs. Temperance Fordyce, who is 83 years old.

Miss Dessie Hunter of Bolckow was the Chautauqua guest of Mr. and Mrs. George McMurray.

Misses Viva Cloud and Eunice Wright of Bedford spent Sunday at the Maryville Chautauqua.

PARNELL GREENELSH SENTENCED AFTER PLEA OF GUILTY.

3 PLEAD NOT GUILTY

Bail For Each Fixed at $800—Two Charged With Larceny and One With Forgery.

"Parnell" Greenelsh was given four years in the penitentiary Monday morning in an adjourned session of circuit court by Judge W. C. Ellison after pleading guilty to a charge of burglary and larceny. Greenelsh was the man who broke into the Burlington Junction depot a few weeks ago. He told the court this morning that he was in a drunken condition when he committed the offense.

Other criminal cases up this morning were as follows:

Walter Banta, charged with larceny of chickens in night time, pleaded guilty and then changed his plea to not guilty. He told the court that there was another boy in the case and said it was the son of Dennis Reynolds. Banta was arrested last week after having been caught taking a sack full of chickens from J. M. Kern. Banta's bail was fixed at $800 by the court.

J. C. Graves, charged with forgery, pleaded not guilty and his bail was fixed at $800, and the cause was continued.

E. E. New, charged with grand larceny, pleaded not guilty and his bail fixed at $800, and the case was continued. New is charged with stealing a motorcycle in Kansas City.

WAS BEATEN UP.

B. C. Biggerstaff, Now of Indianapolis, Attacked by Street Railway Men.

According to a dispatch from Indianapolis, Ind., B. C. Biggerstaff, formerly editor of the Maryville Tribune, was beaten up in a fight. The following is the dispatch.

B. C. Biggerstaff, reporter for an afternoon paper here, who recently came from the St. Joseph Gazette, at St. Joseph, Mo., was attacked and beaten here late yesterday afternoon by employees of the street railway company who had taken exception to the stand which his paper has taken on efforts to organize employees of the company. Several men jumped on the writer and pummeled him until he took refuge in a nearby office, from which he was later escorted by the police.

Biggerstaff was accompanying a party of the union's representatives when the attack occurred. Although the writer is a small man, his assailant, who weighs 175 pounds, mauled him severely with the aid of others in his crowd. Mike Murphy was the name given by the assailant, who was arrested. He is an inspector for the street railway.

Announce Birth of a Daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Yeaman announce the birth of a daughter, born to them Sunday.

Is Seriously Ill.

Mrs. Lufe C. Allender of Atlantic, Ia., who is at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Wallis, Sr., is seriously sick. Her husband arrived Saturday.

To Leave on Western Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Steiger of Ravenwood will leave Wednesday on a several months trip in the west. They will go to Denver, Colo., and also visit at the Steiger ranch in Colorado. They will go through Yellowstone park and then go on to the Pacific coast.

Adlebert McMillen of Pickering returned Friday from Columbia, Mo., where he has been in the State University Library there during the summer term of the school. He will leave about the middle of September for Albany, N. Y., where he will attend school for the coming year.

Col. Charles Evans and Mr. and Mrs. James Hutchison and three children, all of Parnell, were shopping in the city Monday.

TO GO OVER SOME ROADS.

County Highway Commission Will Do That and Will Then Probably Select the Routes.

The county highway commission are intending to go over some of the roads that are competing for county seat highways and after that is done, will then select the seven routes, five county seat highways and two state line roads. County Highway Engineer Clary thought the selection would be made the last of this week. S. H. Conlin of Barnard, a member of the commission, was in the city Monday in conference with Mr. Clary.

PICNIC AT GUILFORD.

The M. E. Church Sunday School of That Place to Have Big Time On Tuesday.

The M. E. church, South, Sunday school of Guilford will hold a picnic Tuesday, August 19, at the W. D. Clanan grove, two miles east of Guilford. The speakers of the day will be Rev. Gilbert S. Cox, pastor of the First M. E. church of Maryville; President Ira Richardson of the Normal, Rev. H. C. Bohn of St. Joseph and Rev. S. E. Hoover, the pastor of the church. In the afternoon a ball game will be played between the boys of the Sunday school.

WANT REPORT OF BRIDGES.

County Highway Engineer Clary Would Like Township Board and Overseers to Make Out Report.

County Highway Engineer John Clary would like to have each township board with the overseers make out a report to him of the general condition of all the bridges in their township and district, regardless of whether they are new bridges or old bridges. He wants on the report the location of every bridge in the district or township, the kind of a bridge, its size, the condition, whether it needs repairs or if new bridge is needed, the drainage area in acres, and the amount of travel, whether a main road, a mail route road, etc.

SOLD THEIR APPLES.

Messrs. Ford and Klass Receive the Highest Price Yet for Their Crop, Estimated at 4,000 Barrels.

Mr. J. D. Ford of this city and his partner, Mr. Elias Klaas of Parnell, have just closed a deal with a firm of Atchison, Kan., who has purchased their crop of apples from their orchard, near Parnell, in the orchard.

The crop is estimated at 4,000 barrels, 2,000 barrels of which are Jonathans, and the remaining 2,000 barrels Pippins, Ganos and Ben Davis.

For the Jonathans they will receive $2.50 per bushel and for the other apples $1.85.

As the barrels average three bushels, this will bring the owners a nice sum. It is the best price they have ever received.

Here From Oklahoma.

Mrs. Robert Miller and daughter of Collinsville, Okla., arrived in Maryville Saturday noon on a visit to Mrs. Catherine Miller and Mrs. F. P. Robinson. John Miller has been here visiting several weeks. The crops in Mrs. Miller's section of Oklahoma are a complete failure, there is not a green thing visible and the dust is several inches deep.

Expected Home Thursday.

Mrs. W. M. Wallis, Jr., who has been spending the summer in Portland, Ore., is expected to arrive home Thursday.

IT'S ALL UP TO YOU

GODD ROADS EFFORT IN NODAWAY COUNTY RIGHT HERE.

YOU SHOULD GET BUSY

Talking Time Will Stop Tuesday Eve—Working Time Will Begin Wednesday.

The good roads days come on Wednesday and Thursday, August 20 and 21, according to a proclamation issued by Governor Major and the county court of Nodaway county. Everybody is called on to work these two days on the roads under the direction and supervision of the township board in each township.

In Nodaway county not much active work has been done toward any organization for these days. In Grant township and also Jackson an organization has been formed and they expect to accomplish something toward improving their roads. In the other townships in the county not much has been done.

The time for talking ends on the evening of Tuesday, and with the morning of Wednesday the time for action begins, and it's up to you to prove your faith by your works. If you are a good roads man, get busy with the plow and scraper and drag and shovel and pick and concrete mixer. Work at the job for two days, and see that your neighbors joins you.

ARE CANVASSING VOTES.

The County Court in Session Today to Cast Polk Township Good Roads Vote.

Judges John G. Thornhill and Floyd Westfall of the county court met today to cast up the vote cast in the Polk township good roads election held last Thursday. The vote was found to be the same as was given in the papers on Friday.

SUES FOR WHEAT.

Charles W. Butler Alleges That Eddie Godsey Is Wrongfully Retaining 296 Bushels of Wheat.

According to a petition filed in Circuit Clerk Rathbun's office Monday, Charles W. Butler alleges that Eddie Godsey is wrongfully detaining 296 bushels of wheat which rightfully belongs to the plaintiff. Suit for $222.50, the value of the wheat, and also for $100 for the detention of the wheat is asked for by Butler. The attorney for Butler is S. E. Browne of Hopkins.

Visitors From Kansas City.

Mrs. Joseph F. Brown and children arrived Monday noon on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hastings. Mrs. Brown left the people of her city rejoicing over a fine rain Sunday night. Mr. Brown came with his family to Maryville and went on to Bedford on business.

Former Resident Here.

William Critchfield, a former resident of Maryville, but now of Brownsville, Texas, is in Maryville on business.

Are Visiting Here.

Although hot and exhausted, P. C. Patrick O'Brien felt not a little pleased with himself. He had just effected his first arrest since becoming a member of the force; and, more than that, an arrest certainly to be proud of. In short, after a long, exciting chase, he had captured Tom Crooks, the notorious, but elusive, housebreaker.

While he was marching to the station, however, with his prisoner, the latter's hat suddenly blew off and went scurrying away along the street.

"Lawks!" cried Tom. "There goes my 'at! Shall I run after it?"

"Phaw!" roared Pat, a wise look on his face. "You run after it and not come back again? No, my lad, you stand here; I'll get your hat."—Exchange.

Alarming Discovery.

Here is one that was told by Congressman James A. Hughes of West Virginia the other night in demonstrating that imagination plays a large part in the life of every man.

One afternoon, according to the story told by the congressman, Uncle Josh and Cousin Hez met at the corner grocery, and after comparing notes on crops and San Jose scale, the topic turned to personal health.

"As for me," said Uncle Josh, "I have been feelin' fair ter middlin'. How hev you been yourself?"

"Purty poorly, Josh," answered Hez, with a prolonged sigh. "I was feelin' all right a day or so ago, but jes' now I seem ter have symptoms of rheumatiz, lumbegger, dyspepsy, ringworm, bronchitis an' some more things thet I kain't remember."

"Ye don't mean it, Hez!" sympathetically responded Josh. "What in the thunderation hev ye been doin' ter yerseelf?"

"Nothin', Josh," replied Hez, "cept readin' a new almanac thet the drug-gist 'es' sent me."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Lying.

The essence of lying is in deception, not in words; a lie may be told by silence, by equivocation, by the accent on a syllable, by a glance of the eye attaching a peculiar significance to a sentence; and all these kinds of lies are worse and baser by many degrees than a lie plainly worded; so that no form of blinde conscience is so far sunk as that which comforts itself for having deceived because the deception was by gesture or silence, instead of utterance.—John Ruskin.

TO GET RID OF THE FLY.

What is the Best Way, According to Dr. Howard of the Bureau of Entomology.

Dr. Howard of the bureau of entomology, estimated that twelve generations of flies are hatched in a single summer. A single over-wintering mother will start about April 15 with an average of 120. At this ratio the end of the fly season would see a progeny of that one mother fly making up a tidy genealogical tree of some 1,096,181,249,720,000,000,000,000 branches, twigs and buds. Fortunately, there are many things destructive to eggs, larva and adult flies.

One should not rest content with killing the fly, but should get rid of the places where she lays her eggs—the unsanitary closet, the manure heap, the uncovered garbage can, the putrescent dead animals along the highway. All refuse and decaying matter and all vegetable and table waste should be removed and buried or covered with lime or kerosene oil. A barrel of chloride of lime should always be on hand, from which deposits of manure, etc., should be sprinkled. Shallow dishes should be placed about the house, one in each room, containing each a teaspoonful of formaldehyde to a pint of water; or a teaspoonful of bichromate of potassium in a quart of water sweetened with plenty of sugar. Pyrethrum powder burned in a room stupefies the flies so that they fall to the floor and can be gathered up and burned. "No filth—no flies—and no disease."—Medical Record.

Lies a Mirror Will Tell.

In the September Woman's Home Companion, Grace Margaret Gould, fashion editor of that periodical, writes a splendid article, entitled "The Deceitful Mirror," an extract from which follows:

"The mirror has few favorites. It is actually remarkable how the wicked thing can beguile most people into thinking they look fashionable when they don't.

"It will tell the woman whose waist measures thirty-five inches that she looks too stunning for anything in one of the new broad sashes, one that is actually fifteen inches in width and is so gaily plaided that it makes the futurist's tones seem subdued.

"It will flatter the woman with enormous feet into thinking they look their smallest and best when encased in white shoes. It is a symphony in white she is fond of and she attains it, but to those who see her approaching her feet look like two of the white squadron emerging from a fog at sea.

"And the mirror deceitfully approves again. This time it is the woman who bedecks herself with artificial and natural flowers. The flower tad is in favor and she over-adopts it for her very own, not seeing, and the mirror never giving a single hint, that she looks like the decorations on a dead soldier's grave.

"The mirror is specially spiteful to the woman who believes that rouge, and a plentiful amount of it, adds to her charms. A glance in the mirror and this woman thinks she is a beauty. Others at her appearance are suddenly reminded of the gay colored totem poles."

The Shoemaker-Bovard Transfer and Coal Company

Wants your orders for Coal, and we want them early. Every advice from railroads and operators lead us to believe there will be a car shortage and that coal will be slow coming forward. Hence the early orders will have the advantage. The prices are low now, but will advance soon. Just take a few minutes and talk coal to me.

day afternoon J. A. Lorange and Robinson Craven, who were enjoying the hospitality of the I X L Embroidery Club, began to be concerned as to a place of refuge for their fair entertainers, so they said. They ran across to the band stand and found they could crawl under it and be in a splendidly safe place in a storm, then returned and sat contentedly in the I X L tent porch waiting for the impending storm that didn't break, but went around. After the scare was all over the I X L's discovered there was just barely enough room under the band stand for Mr. Lorange and Mr. Craven. "Just like a man," they said, and they're mad yet.

The Porter-Yeamans camp had quite a number of visitors Saturday, who spent the afternoon there, when it was found the Ojibway Indians would not appear until evening. They were Mrs. Charles Blagg, southwest of Maryville; Miss Adda McMahan of St. Joseph, Dean, Paul and Helen Irene Blagg, Mrs. L. E. Talloch, Stewart and Virginia Talloch, Mrs. S. A. Roach and Gordon Roach, Mrs. Lowell Campbell and Fern Campbell, all of Barnard; Mrs. B. A. Alkire and Miss Elsie Alkire.

Miss Mabel Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Douglas and Mrs. Ben Chandler of Edison, Mrs. Neal and James Philip of Illinois were guests at dinner Saturday at the camp of Mrs. Rebecca Gray and Miss Belle Stewart.

Mrs. Thomas Mendenhall, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Mendenhall and Lawrence Mendenhall of Barnard and Miss Alma Hobart of Chester, Neb., were guests Saturday at the Swigart-Hornbuckle camp.

At Come Inn camp Willis Harry Wamsley (or Bill, as he is better known) of Arkoe came Saturday and remained until Sunday night. The other guests were Mrs. Charles Porter and son Robert of Ottawa, Kan.; Mrs. Will Espey and George Wamsley. The Sunday guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wamsley, Mrs. F. E. Woodward and Mrs. Sam Corroughs of Arkoe, G. W. Hook and daughters of Bedford, Ia.

Miss Maud McMurphy of Bolckow, who was the guest of Miss Golda Airy a few days at her tent, returned home Sunday evening in the C. D. Bellows car, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Bellows, with whom she had been visiting; Mr. Dale Bellows and Miss Ella Walton Frank.

Mrs. Paul Boyer gave a week-end tent party. Her guests included Mrs. Louis Anderson, Miss Bertha Anderson, Miss Elizabeth Doran, Misses Esther and Chloe Busby.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Welch of Shenandoah arrived Saturday and were guests until Sunday evening at the camp of Dr. and Mrs. Leslie Dean. Mrs. Welch is a sister of Mrs. Dean. The visitors were accompanied home by Miss Dale Hoffman for a vacation visit.

The families of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Cummins, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hartman and Mr. and Mrs. Byron Rhoades composed a picnic supper party in the park Sunday evening.

Mrs. Alex Fraser and Mrs. J. D. Ford served a veritable banquet in the tent auditorium Saturday evening, complimentary to the boys of the high school class of 1913, who were in camp all week for Chautauqua. The honor guests were Elmer Montgomery, Ernest Coler, Harold Booth, Walter Fraser, Ray Foland and Halley Ford. The table presented a beautiful appearance. The other guests included Miss Laurinda Craig of Bolckow, Miss Edith Davenport, Miss Mary Thomas, Miss Beulah Thompson of Guilford, Misses Cecile and Mabel Fraser, Donald Fraser of St. Joseph, Messrs. Alex Fraser and J. D. Ford, Miss Marcia Messenger and the hostesses.

Mrs. John Halasy and family, John Appleby and three daughters, Bill, Maud and Martha Helpley, Leeta Wray, Lavisa Swinford, Lucile, Grace and Mildred Wiley comprised a supper party at Chautauqua park Saturday evening in the auditorium tent.

The visitors and supper guests at Camp Hospitality Saturday evening were Mrs. W. S. Trewett, Mrs. Eugenia Schenck, Mrs. N. F. Humber and Mrs. Fred Yeomans. The guests at Sunday dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Majors of Emporia, Kan., who have been guests at the Leon Fordyce home for the week, Misses Ola and Ora Young and Mrs. Solomon Clark.

Elsie and Jack, the little Indian boy and girl who were with the Ojibway Indians and assisted in presenting "Hiawatha" Saturday night, were Saturday afternoon guests of the girls of the Hum Drum club. Elsie, true to her Indian nature, has strong likes and dislikes. There was but one girl of the

Hum Drums that she cared anything about, and she stayed by her staunchly all the time, and when any of the other girls, who really coveted her favor and regard and tried their best to win her over, came near her and offered their kindest words to her, Elsie's fighting blood came up and each received a resounding slap in the face as many times as she came, while the little blacky, beady eyes looked like coals of fire. Miss Blanche Shipp enjoyed the favor of her little Indian sister to the limit.

Jack and Elsie were supper guests at Inn All Day camp Saturday evening, and the hostesses were delighted with Elsie's pretty table manners. After supper, however, an interesting tussle took place between 4-year-old Indian Elsie and Nellie Marion Smith over the possession of the rope swing that Nellie's father had fixed for her special use at Camp Inn All Day. Nellie Marion, the 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Smith, is about the fairest haired and bluest eyed little girl one sees, and the contest she had with her little thoroughbred Indian sister made a funny sight. It looked like Nellie Marion would win, so her father and mother finally prevailed in their argument with her that she must let her company have the swing first and all the time, this time, as she was going away, for which Nellie was glad, and she could have the swing all by herself afterward.

Miss Edna Wilson of Camp Blair returned Saturday afternoon from a several days' visit with Oregon friends at their Chautauqua. She was accompanied home by Miss Beulah Klopff, Mr. Tom Milne and Mr. MacWales in Mr. Milne's car, who remained until Tuesday afternoon, returning in time for the close of the Oregon Chautauqua.

There was quite a spread at the Montgomery-Wright camp Sunday evening, when the guests included the members of the Gray-Stewart camp, the girls of Cum Wright Inn camp (excepting Miss Maurine DeHart, who ate supper with her brother, Louis DeHart), making a company of over thirty. Other guests were G. W. Swinford and family, Mrs. H. J. Parrish and Mrs. Gabe Purcell of Conception Junction.

Miss Myrtle Blanchard of Verdon, Neb., who has been the guest of Miss Ola Smith at Camp Smith during Chautauqua, went to Kansas City Monday morning to visit before returning home.

Mrs. Jose Eckles' camp guests Sunday were her daughter, Mrs. Irl Walker of Bedford, who came to Maryville Sunday morning with Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hook and daughters in their car, also Mrs. John Sewell and Miss Beatrice of Maryville, Mr. and Mrs. Good Haylett of Graham and Mr. and Mrs. Nic Helzer and family and Frank Rastock of Chicago.

When Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Carmichael of Mt. Airy camp went home Saturday night to look after things at the farm, east of Maryville, their car stuck in the mud. It is thought a three-inch rain fell in that vicinity Saturday afternoon, the most welcome thing that has happened for a long time.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Kirk and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Galen Goodson of Hopkins came to Maryville Sunday morning in the doctor's car and spent the day at Chautauqua park at Camp Rest, where Dr. Kirk's mother, Miss Flora Quinn, was hostess.

Charles and Loretta Hiner were the guests of Mrs. M. O'Brien at Camp Sans Souci over Saturday and Sunday.

The Dressmakers' club held a picnic supper in Chautauqua park Sunday evening.

A breakfast party at Waukon Inn was a pleasant feature Sunday morning. The preparation and serving of the menu and its enjoyment lasted from 7 to 10:30, owing to the very congenial company present, we presume. Those present were Mrs. Pierce, hostess; Miss Stahl, Miss Eichmiller, Henry Toel of St. Joseph, Messrs. Hanna and Leffler.

Rev. and Mrs. S. E. Hoover and son, Mr. and Mrs. Stoneburner and daughter and Miss Nellie Sims of Ravenwood were Chautauqua visitors Sunday.

Mrs. George W. Rose of Stanberry was the guest at Camp Smith Sunday of her daughter, Miss Virginia Rose.

Robert Medsker of Graham was the guest of Glen Daise and Alva Hill at their camp Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Burris and family, who were compelled to leave their camp the middle of the week on account of sickness among the children, returned Saturday night and remained until Sunday night, when they broke camp and went to their home, near Graham. G. B. Holmes, Jr., was their guest at breakfast Sunday morning. They were accompanied home by Miss Nellie Pigg of Kansas City, a

NODAWAY VALLEY BANK

OLDEST BANK IN THE COUNTY

Capital and Surplus $125,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

The officers of the Nodaway Valley Bank wish to announce the establishment of a SAVINGS DEPARTMENT in connection with this institution.

This department will take care of your savings, paying interest semi-annually, and render every assistance in cultivating the habit of saving money.

No one need be ashamed to save money. No one need be ashamed to start with as little as a dollar. The habit of saving money, if persisted in, is bound to make for financial independence and to make a good citizen of the "man with the habit" as well.

You may start an account in our SAVINGS DEPARTMENT with a dollar and make deposits from time to time. No red tape. No formality. Simplest thing in the world, and think what it means.

The SAVINGS DEPARTMENT of the NODAWAY VALLEY BANK will open for business on

FRIDAY, AUGUST 22, 1913

Hours 9 a. m. to 3 p. m.

On all accounts opened before September 1st, 1913, interest will be allowed from August 15th, 1913.

Don't overlook this invitation to start a SAVINGS ACCOUNT. Drop in next time you are passing and get started. We have a book for YOU.

cousin of Mrs. Burris, who will spend several days with them. Miss Pigg is quite a literary woman and has written short stories for Oklahoma City papers and other publications for several years. The guests at this camp Saturday evening were Miss Lulu Jones of Skidmore and Will O'Grady.

The guests at Camp Idlewild Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Elie Craig of Bolckow, Rev. and Mrs. C. H. John, Mrs. Alice Nelson and Miss Melinda Castillo of Elmo and Mr. and Mrs. James Galbraith of Bolckow.

Miss Quete Morgan of Parnell arrived Saturday night and remained over Sunday the guest at Always inn camp.

Dr. G. A. Nash and Governor Stubbs (that's his dog) visited Chautauqua park for the first time Sunday evening since the entertainments began, and were supper guests at Camp Chapman, where Mrs. Nash was hostess. After supper the doctor and Governor Stubbs sat in the tent porch and enjoyed a smoke together to the amusement of many. The governor has to have his pipe, a cob with a stick in it, every time the doctor smokes, or he won't let his master smoke.

Miss Glen Hotchkiss and Miss Carrie Margaret Baker were the hostesses of a 12 o'clock dinner at the Hum Drum camp Saturday. The table was very attractive in decorations of sunflowers. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Oliver K. Bovard, who brought the girls a handsome box of candy; Miss Hettie Anthony, Miss Alice Porter, Lieber Holmes, Clarence Perry, Miss Margaret Chilton, Miss Dorothy Dunn of Chicago, Edward Gray, Herschel Colbert, Donald Williams, Roland Curran and Mrs. Anna Hotchkiss. The Sunday guests at noon luncheon at this camp were Edward Gray, Virgil Lyle, Orlo Quinn, Kirby Taylor, Lieber Holmes, Clarence Perry. The chaplains for Saturday and Sunday night were Miss Alice Porter and Miss Frances Smith.

The Kidd Inn camp had for its guests Saturday afternoon Mrs. Charles Shipp and daughters, Thelma, Hester and Helen, of Arkoe; Mrs. Will Espey and son, and their guest, Mrs. Charles Porter and son of Ottawa, Kan. Their guests on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Lester Bennett and Miss Helen Glaze of St. Joseph, who is a niece of Mrs. Orville Bennett, one of the hostesses at Kind Inn camp.

Kamp Skott had several guests Saturday and Sunday, including Miss Anna Houston, John, Herschel and Louis Houston and Mrs. W. N. Houston, the mother and sister and brothers of the hostess, Mrs. Emmett Scott, and Russell Good, all of Burlington Junction.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Johnson and children and Mr. and Mrs. Miles Fast of Burlington Junction were Chautauqua visitors Sunday, making the trip in Mr. Fast's car.

Mrs. Alice Nelson and Miss Melinda Castillo of Elmo were Chautauqua visitors Sunday. They are the guests of Mrs. N. B. Lamar.

The B. C. B. club of Skidmore entertained at their camp Sunday Mrs. J. Knepper, Mrs. S. O. Keever and Mrs. A. L. Oakerson, living southwest of Maryville, and their guest, Mrs. W. T. Hunt of Oklahoma City. Mrs. Hunt is quite a literary woman and has written short stories for Oklahoma City papers and other publications for several years. The guests at this camp Saturday evening were Miss Lulu Jones of Skidmore and Will O'Grady.

Miss Grace Ross and Mrs. W. M. Henson of Hopkins were among the Chautauqua visitors Sunday.

At the Baker camp Sunday the visitors were Miss Carrie McClurg of Pickering, Miss Hattie Patterson, Scott Jolly and Hovey Manning of McFall and Clyde Patterson, all guests of Miss Bernice Baker.

Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Pollard, Mrs. Emma Wiley, Miss Leila Wiley, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Campbell and Miss Fern Campbell composed two auto parties from Barnard Sunday for an all-day stay at the Chautauqua. Miss Wiley is a reporter on the Rosendale Signal, and was connected with the Barnard Bulletin until that paper succumbed a few months ago.

The Makes No Never Mind camp gave a watermelon luncheon Saturday night after the program. The guests were Mr. C. B. Coit of St. Joseph, who arrived on the evening train to join Mrs. Coit, who has been the guest at this camp all during Chautauqua; Prof. W. M. Oakerson, Prof. A. H. Cooper of the Grant City schools, W. G. Sawyers, A. F. Harvey, Misses Alma and Mae Hotchkiss, Helen McNellis, Mrs. Coit, Dr. Mabel Willet and Miss Nelle Tobin of Burlington Junction.

Miss Nellie Tobin of Burlington Junction, who was a guest for several days at Makes No Never Mind camp, went to the home of her brother, P. J. Tobin, north of Maryville, Monday to spend a few days.

The visitors at Elmo camp Saturday were Miss Vinnie Tudder, Mrs. Charles Griffey and son and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Lamar.

GUILFORD ITEMS.

A good shower fell here this morning, which added to the rain of Saturday, did much good to the crops.

J. J. Lanning and family of Savannah are visiting relatives near here. Matthew Whiteford went to St. Joseph today with four car loads of fat steers and a car load of hogs.

Mrs. James A. McAnulty of St. Joseph arrived Monday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Montgomery and other friends. Miss McAnulty's daughter, Miss Grace McAnulty, has been visiting in the city for the past few days.

ASK EXPULSION OF HALE AS SPY

Mexican Press Declares He is Working for Intervention.

RABID ATTACK MADE UPON HIM

Effort Made to Apply Article of Constitution to American—Waiting for Reply of Huerta, Which is Expected
This Week—Hopeful of Situation.

Mexico City, Aug. 18.—Popular interest in the outcome of John Lind's
visit to Mexico as the personal representative of President Wilson was divided by the efforts of a portion of the local press to secure the application of article 33 of the constitution to
Dr. William Bayard Hale, who for some time has been investigating conditions in Mexico on behalf of the United States government. Article 33
is the clause that provides for the expulsion of pernicious foreigners.

The Independent, which is extremely rabid in its attack on him, suggests editorially that President Huerta expel Dr. Hale, who is characterized as a spy and declared to be working to bring about intervention.

In the week that has elapsed since
Mr. Lind arrived in the capital public sentiment toward him has been modified and the opinion now prevails that
not all of the government officials are
as ready to summarily reject his proposals as was indicated before he reached the capital. There is reason to believe that whatever the Mexican
two or three days and that by the end of the week Mr. Lind will be on his way to the United States.

TO STUDY SCHOOL HYGIENE

Teachers and Experts From All Over
World Will Gather in Buffalo Soon.

Buffalo, Aug. 18.—The health of the school children of the United States
and other parts of the world will be
the leading subject of discussion at
the fourth international congress on school hygiene, which meets in Buffalo on Aug. 25 and continues for five days.

The schoolroom is a growing source of tuberculosis, according to authorities who have been tracing America's most dreaded plague for several years.
School teachers will come from every
state in the union and from many of
the countries abroad to hear the discussions by experts of schoolroom health. They will have a direct interest in the discussions, which will show that school teachers have been the most available victims of the white plague.

The program will consist of discussions of sex and personal hygiene, play
and athletics and health and medical inspection. Speakers from the United States, Canada, and the countries of Europe will tell about the best in their schools.

TOURNAMENT FOR HEAVYWEIGHTS

Elimination Contest to Be Staged for Big Guns in New York.

New York, Aug. 18.—The petty bick-
erings among fight promoters and
managers in all parts of the country
having resulted in nothing so far as locating a heavyweight champion is concerned, New York has determined
to stage an elimination tournament on
its own account, with a championship
belt awaiting the winner. Billy Gibson announced that he would offer
such a belt. There will be at least four of the leading heavyweights in the tournament, perhaps more.

"Gunboat" Smith, "Fireman Jim"
Flynn and Al Palzer have been tentatively selected as the contestants for
the championship. The bouts will be held at various periods during the summer, with the idea in view of awarding the belt before Sept. 1. All
the bouts will be staged in this city,
probably at Madison Square garden.

MRS. McALPINE ON STAND

Tells of Mysterious Death of Rich
Spouse at Duluth.

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 18.—The coroner's jury investigating the mysterious
death of John McAlpine, millionaire
lumberman, resumed work today. Mc-
Alpine's body was found in the basement of his home here with a bullet
wound in the head.

Mrs. John McAlpine was closely examined. Her testimony was to the effect that it was her belief that Mc-Alpine had died as the result of the accidental discharge of his own revolver, and in this belief she was
borne out by her son, Dale McAlpine.
The revolver, which was found by
the police beneath the cellar steps, at
the inquest was identified as one belonging to Mr. McAlpine. One bullet
had been discharged from the gun.

Taxdodger Draws $200 Fine.

Richmond, Mo., Aug. 18.—Andrew
Wells, a capitalist, who was one of
the men indicted here for tax dodging,
was allowed to plead guilty before Circuit Judge Diverbillas to a charge of having withheld $600 from the assess-
or. He was fined $200.

General Moderation.

Washington, Aug. 18.—Temperatures
near or below the average for the season will prevail throughout the greater part of the country this week, according to the weather bureau experts.

HARRY THAW MAKES ESCAPE

Flees From Matteawan in Auto
Toward Connecticut Line.

AUTHORITIES GIVE VAIN CHASE

Hospital Authorities Believe Fugitive
Gone to Shore of Long Island Sound
and Off to Europe on Yacht—Attendant Under Arrest.

Matteawan, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Harry
K. Thaw, the slayer of Stanford White,
escaped from the hospital for the criminal insane here at 7:45 a. m. A dart for liberty through an open gate,
a dash into the open door of a powerful automobile that stood quivering
outside, and flight like a rocket for
the Connecticut state line, thirty miles
away, accomplished his escape.

He is still at large and the hospital
authorities feel certain he is outside
the state. Once beyond its boundaries, Thaw is free. Only perhaps years of litigation can bring him back and then
only in one event—that he be adjudged insane in the state to which he has fled.

Five Men the Car.

Five confederates manned the car
in which Thaw escaped, and a big
black limousine, which trailed it past
the asylum gate. The police have their license and the names under
which they registered at a local hotel
and are seeking them.

The hospital authorities believe
Thaw has fled to the shore of Long Island sound and boarded a yacht,
waiting with steam up, to rush him to Europe.

A reward of $500 for Thaw's apprehension has been offered by Dr. R. F.
C. Keith, superintendent of the asylum.
Howard H. Barnum, the attendant at the gate, past whom Thaw flashed in
his break for freedom, is under arrest
and other arrests are expected to follow in the rigid investigation begun
by Dr. Keith.

The shades were drawn in the dormitories and the inmates were getting
their second sleep when Thaw left his room. He was fully dressed. The milkman's cart was on the road outside as he walked through the store
room and into the outer court or yard
of the asylum grounds. Barnum, sole attendant at the road gate, was pacing
back and forth when Thaw closed the
store room door behind him, and apparently did not grasp the significance
of Thaw's early rising.

Followed by Limousine.

A six-cylinder touring car, black and
sixty-horsepower, followed by a limosine, also black, loafed lazily along the road as the milkman drew near the gate. Thaw, standing a few feet away,
apparently unconcerned, waited till Barnum unlocked the gate and swung
it wide to let the milkman enter. At the same moment the two cars drew
up on the further side of the road, opposite the gate, and stood still, their engines throbbing. As Barnum stepped aside for the milkman to drive inside
the grounds, he heard the gravel
crunch beneath Thaw's feet, and looking up saw the prisoner flash past him
straight for one of the waiting cars.
With a shout Barnum started in pursuit, but a flying leap landed Thaw
safely within the car. The wheels
were slowly turning before the keeper
had fairly reached the roadway. They were throwing up a cloud of dust before he had gone twenty feet.

The great black car flashed like a thunderbolt through Stormville, ten miles east of Matteawan, along the road to the Connecticut line. Early risers saw three men—and Thaw—
crouching low to escape the sweep of their rush through the air. They were going seventy miles an hour.

Telephone Police.

Barnum's breathless declaration at
the asylum, "Thaw's escaped," brought
Dr. Keith to his feet like a pistol shot.
Within a moment he was standing at
the telephone and as Barnum poured
the story into his ears, repeated it
over the wire to police headquarters.
Matteawan became the center of a
widening ripple of telephone and telegraph alarm as Dr. Keith planned pursuit.

He might as well have tried to chase
a twelve-inch shell. The ten minute
start, the high power of the car in which Thaw made his flight, the nearness of the Connecticut state line, toward which Thaw was heading and the inferior power of the pursuing cars militated against him and made the chase hopeless.

MICHIGAN LAW OUSTS SEERS

General Exodus of Clairvoyants Following Taking Effect of Statute.

Battle Creek, Mich., Aug. 18.—There
has been a general exodus of clairvoy-
ants, fake doctors, seers and necro-
mancers in view of the state law
which took effect making it unlawful
for them to ply their trade in Michigan.

Sanitarium visitors have caused
many of the fortune tellers to locate
here.

Many have virtually had gold mines,
as numerous persons who come here
for treatment are in a weak mental condition and easily fall victims to the wiles of the mystics.

Relief in Kansas.

Kansas City, Aug. 18.—Heavy showers over most of the eastern half of Kansas added to the relief and it is believed the drought is now effectually
broken.

Miss Effie Collins Married.

Miss Effie Collins, formerly of Mary-
ville, and Mr. John M. Crozier of Wauweta, Wyo., were married June 11
last at Wauweta. The announcement of the marriage was brought to Maryville Saturday by Lex Collins, who is
here for a few days' visit with his sister, Miss Rose Collins. Lex Collins
and Misses Effie and Gladys Collins
left Maryville a year and a half ago
to take up a claim in Wyoming, lived
together on their land and have been very successful. Mr. Crozier was a neighbor ranchman and one of the first
people with whom they became acquainted. Miss Gladys Collins is teaching school near Wauweta. Lex Collins, who was a reporter on the Tribune at the time he went to Wyoming,
is on his way to Des Moines to attend
a business college.

FIRE CAPTAIN FATALLY HURT

Blaze at Omaha.

Omaha, Aug. 18.—Captain John Engle of engine company No. 1 is in St. Joseph's hospital with a fractured skull, sustained at a fire on Howard street, between Fifteenth and Sixteenth. He fell from a window a distance of eighteen feet and alighted on his head. His injuries may prove fatal. Fireman Charles Baerman was overcome by smoke while working at the rear of the burning building, and was dragged unconscious from danger by his comrades. He was revived by prompt use of the pulmotor.

Loss of $120,000 was sustained by the tenants and owner of the building occupied by the Omaha Gas company, the Burgess-Graden Electric Fixtures and Supply company and Rubel Bros.

Striking Girls Arrested.

St. Louis, Aug. 18.—Ten striking garment workers and a private detective were arrested here as a result of disturbances in front of factories against which a strike had been declared. Several of those arrested were young women. They are charged with trying to interfere with the police. Three women were arrested on a charge of threatening to whip girls if they did not join the strike.

Forest Fires Raging in Alaska.
Seward, Alaska, Aug. 18.—Forest fires are raging in the vicinity of Kenai lake, twenty-five miles from Seward. A high wind is blowing and the fire is beyond control.

FIREMAN VICTIM OF GRAND ISLAND BLAZE

Property Worth $70,000 is Destroyed by Fire.

Grand Island, Neb., Aug. 18.—Tony Fleischer, fireman, aged twenty-five years, was killed and about $70,000 worth of property was destroyed in a fire which at one time threatened to traverse the heart of the railroad section. The department succeeded in keeping the fire confined to the livery barn in which it started and the adjacent lumber yard and planing mill of the Geer-Harrison company.

Fleischer was directing one of the streams of water on the fire at the planing mill, with a position in the alley. The heat of the flames from the livery stable melted a wire of the electric company, the wire being charged with 2,300 volts, and it dropped down on the fireman.

The fire originated in the hayloft of the Plack & Rhodes livery stable. There were about thirty animals in the barn, and all but twelve were released.

NEW YORK GIANTS CONTINUE TO CLIMB

Bad Week for the Philadelphia Athletics.

New York, Aug. 18.—Baseball play in the major leagues for the week developed the continued strength of the New York Giants and the possible break in the heretofore impregnable defense of the Philadelphia American league team. McGraw's team won five games and lost one during the week, gaining a half game on Philadelphia.

In the American league, Philadelphia won two and lost three, but the games won represented the total of two series, Chicago and Cleveland both taking three out of four. In both series Mack's pitchers could not stop the hitting of the opposition, Cleveland especially making scores almost at will.

Mine Worker Killed in Gun Duel.
Trinidad, Colo., Aug. 18.—Gerald Lippitt, a member of the United Mine Workers, here to attend the State Federation of Labor convention, was shot and killed in a revolver duel with G. W. Belcher, an operative of a private detective agency. Belcher was shot in the left leg. He and a man named Walker Belk are under arrest.

Many employers during recent years have shown their generosity to their employes by leaving them legacies. When Thomas Edward Walton of Oakleigh, Portland, Bowdoin, Cheshire, died he left a will bequeathing $12,500 and one-third of his residuary estate to Frances Nixon, in his service at the date of the will. Mr. Walton left an estate of $125,000 gross value.

Very generous indeed was a German merchant named Hinkel, resident in Moscow. By his will, proved a little while ago, he bequeathed his business and his fortune, amounting to $2,500,000, to his employes. All members of the staff, including clerks, bookkeepers, packers, porters and doorkeepers, were to have a share in the dead man's business, and an amount of money to be reckoned on the basis of the first annual wage multiplied by the number of years they had been in the service.

Those who had worked for him for less than five years were to receive a joint sum of $50,000, which was to be divided according to wages and length of service.

A London solicitor with a large practice called a young lawyer, whom he had employed for several years into his private office one afternoon some years ago and offered him his business as a gift. The young solicitor naturally accepted it, and he is now a well-known lawyer with a fortune exceeding that of his generous predecessor.

NEW STORIES OF BISMARCK

The memoirs of M. Antoine de Werner contain many interesting recollections of eminent persons with whom the famous painter came into contact. During the Franco-Prussian war he was on the staff of the crown prince, and when installed in the headquarters of Versailles came into close contact with Bismarck, who had a fund of jovial, if somewhat brutal, conversation. After an interview with Jules Favre, the iron chancellor was asked what he thought of the French advocate-minister. "We got on very well," said Bismarck, "from the very start, because he has such big feet that he looks more like a German than a Frenchman."

In 1887 the painter accompanied the crown prince on his journey to Italy. When leaving the staff at Darmstadt he was charged with the following message to the prince of Battenberg by the crown princess: "Tell him from me that King Humbert spoke bitterly of his renunciation of the Bulgarian throne, 'Prince Alexander has lost a crown, but gained an aureole.'" Werner gave the message, and the prince replied: "It would all have been different but for Bismarck. Supported by him, I would have resisted a hundred thousand devils. He turned his back on me, and I had to give up."

Clergyman Band Leader.

A military band with a clergyman as conductor is a combination which probably is to be found only at Illogan, Cornwall, England, where the rector, the Rev. Henry Oxland, has just completed his twenty-seventh year as conductor of the local military band. The rector and his thirty-two musicians, nearly all of whom are in uniform, are familiar figures throughout West Cornwall, the band being very popular at various public functions. The "season" has just begun, and henceforth the band will be in great request for fetes, horse shows, and sports meetings. During the last quarter of a century many of the old members have emigrated to America, and no fewer than fourteen bands have been started there by Cornishmen who formerly played in the Illogan band under the conductorship of the rector.

Early Responsibility.

A mother who is anxious to teach her children to think for themselves, and to become responsible creatures as early as possible, says an allowance is the best plan. Even a few cents a week, as soon as they are old enough to want to spend a cent, will help in teaching them that they can have just so much for so much, and that one thing must be given up in order to acquire another. It need not be only getting they will practice with their pennies; the idea of giving can also be imparted by a thoughtful mother, though stopping this side of making them young Jellybys. It was not voluntary giving Dickens had in mind when he traced his pen picture of these young martyrs to a mission-loving mother.

Artificial Ice.

The method commonly used in making ice for commercial production is to sink oblong tin boxes containing distilled or filtered water into tanks of salt water, through which run iron pipes. Then compressed ammonia gas is released in these pipes and by rapid expansion produces an intense cold that freezes the water in the tin boxes into cakes averaging 200 to 300 pounds in weight. In cold storage the same process is used minus the water. The iron pipes into which the compressed ammonia goes run on the side or top, or both, of the cold storage room and causes it to become freezing cold.

WALSER'S OLD CLOCK

It Ran for Years, but All Was Forgotten When It Suddenly Stopped.

By HAROLD CARTER.

The old clockmaker was seated in his office, his head upon his hands, his elbows on his desk, pondering. He occupied a tiny office in an old-fashioned part of New York, downtown, and he had sat there for a great part of each day since he came to America fifty years before, bringing with him the skill of twelve generations of Swiss clockmakers. Walser's clocks never varied by more than five minutes a year. Great, old-fashioned grandfather's clocks they were, and because the modern fashion is for cheap and gaudy things, he sold only to a few old-fashioned customers, and his whole stock was stored in the small warehouse and workshop at the back of his office. But he had hoped to hand down the business to his successors—yes, he had hoped that the tradition would not die out with him.

And he had driven Ernst, his only son, his only child, out of his home for ever. Ernst was the last of the Walsers, and with his action he had effectively cut himself off from all the generations that were to come. How foolish his quarrel had been! It was about a girl whom Ernst wanted to marry, and because he had not told his father all about it old Walser had taken umbrage.

"Who is she?" he asked angrily. And Ernst answered that she was a domestic

tic servant. Then the old man's anger flared out, for the Walsers traced their descent from princes and Walser had mixed so little with his kind that the old traditions lingered.

If he had been less angry and Ernst less proud he would have learned that Elsa was studying social science and had taken her position for reasons which certainly were no discredit to her. But the embittered old man was not in any mood to listen to reason, nor Ernst to explain. Old Walser turned to his son.

He pointed to an old clock which had ticked away the hours minute by minute ever since he had brought it to America.

"Ernst," he said hoarsely, "that clock was made by my father for his serene highness the prince of Lutterling. My father was once engaged to marry the prince's daughter. She died, but the match was never considered unequal. The Walsers have been a proud old family though they are clockmakers. And you—you—you are going to marry a servant."

"Well, marry her, but from this moment you are no longer a Walser. I disown you by the memory of my father." He pointed still to the timepiece. "When that clock, which my father made in 1833, goes wrong by as much as ten minutes in a day, I will ask you to come back to me," he said. "Now go!"

And Ernst went. The old clock never varied by as much as a minute a day. Its melancholy tick was wearing the old man's heart away. He moaned in his misery as he sat at his desk. How gladly he would have had his son back, servant wife and all! If only he had not been so hasty!

A good boy, too—Ernst had always been a good son to him. He had never thwarted or crossed him until that furious quarrel began. And now Ernst was starving in a garret in Washington square—so much he had learned. And he was married to his servant wife. Their lives were abjectly miserable, for the boy was working as a shipping clerk at ten dollars a week!

He swung round in his chair and shook his fist at the old clock. "You swine, you dog, you pig!" he shouted. "Can't you go wrong just for this once, so that I can keep my word and ask my son to come back to me?" He swept his fingers across the glass, and the clock ticked heavily in answer.

And then a wonderful thing happened. A sudden whirling sound was heard, and the hands began racing furiously round and round the old Roman figures that marked the face of the dial. Round and round they ran, once, twice, and now so fast that Walser could not distinguish anything except a blur. And then they stopped and the old clock stood still at half past four.

That was the precise time at which Ernst put on his hat and left the house.

The old man fell back in his chair and stared in astonishment at this phenomenon.

Presently, when curiosity overcame his terror, he opened the case and peered in. And swiftly enough the cause was revealed. Wedged tightly into the mechanism was a clockwork mouse.

It must have laid for years unnoticed inside the case, until it had been jarred down by the tapping of his fingers; its cogs had become entangled with the cogs of the mechanism, and, happening to be wound up, the clockwork of the mouse had gone off, sending the hands flying round the dial till it ran down.

Walser drew out the mouse and looked at it. It was a rusty ancient toy such as is retailed upon the streets for a nickel, or perhaps a dime. Half of the tail was gone, and the beady eyes stared out of a battered and moldy face. Then the old man remembered. Years before he had brought that mouse home for his son Ernst. In the days when he was a baby, playing about the floor of the nursery. The child must have placed his toy inside the old clock and forgotten all about it.

Walser rose up solemnly and put on his hat. He turned to the clock and his voice was choking with emotion.

"I know now," he said, "that this is a judgment and a miracle in one." And he thought of his father, the old clockmaker, and how he had been wont to tell him that the good deeds which are done always bring results, even in other lives. He did not doubt that because his father had been an honest craftsman, his handiwork had borne witness to him, for his own sake.

Ten minutes later he got off a street car at Washington square. He arrived at a dingy, shabby house, and, scanning the list of names on the unpainted letter boxes, discovered that of his son. Walser made his way up to the top floor and knocked.

A comely young woman came to the door.

"You are—?" queried Walser.

"I am Mrs. Walser," she answered in a very sweet voice. "You have business with my husband?"

"You are my son's wife?" shouted the old man. "Why, I thought—I thought—"

And suddenly he flung his arms about her and drew her to him and kissed her. And at the audible sound Ernst came to the door, looking shabby and thin, but with fire in his eye and fists doubled to repel this assault upon the sanctity of his home. Seeing his father he halted dead.

"Come here, my boy," cried the old man. "It's all forgotten—the clock ran down. Come home with me and I will tell you all about it."

CHINA'S APPEAL FOR PRAYER

"Can't Do Harm; May Do Good," an Official of the New Cabinet Has Announced.

The Chinese cabinet has issued an appeal for the prayers of Christians for the national assembly and the newly established government. A Chinese official discussing the notification said:

"The majority of intellectual Chinese incline today toward Christianity or free thought. Many members of the newly elected national assembly both in the senate and the house of representatives, are Christians and there is every indication that Christianity will spread still more rapidly when the new government has its educational and social projects in working order."

The non-Christian Chinese official takes the same view as the Roman pro-consul that such prayers can do no harm and may do good, in addition to securing the support of a powerful section of the people. But the conviction is gaining ground that if Christianity is to become a vital factor in Chinese national life, it must be free from foreign control, for it has always been against the Christian as a foreigner, and not as the upholder of a new creed, that Chinese resentment has been shown in the past. There is a vigorous movement on foot for the foundation of a Chinese Free church, Protestant in character and free from the control of European bishops and missionaries. The minister of foreign affairs and the present minister in Berlin are both supporters of this movement, which is gaining ground steadily.

Fear Effect on Soldiers.

Emperor William of Germany has forbidden any paintings dealing with the Franco-German war to be included in the forthcoming jubilee art exhibition at Berlin, and in particular those of Anton von Werner, whose brush was employed to glorify the leading incidents of Sedan and the proclamation of the German empire at Versailles. But the emperor has not yet gone so far as to cease holding his annual review of the guards at Berlin on Sedan day—which continues to be a thorn in the flesh of the French. When Vereshchagin, the Russian painter, had an exhibition at Berlin of his realistic scenes from the campaign of 1877 the old kaiser forbade his soldiers to go and see them on the ground that they would inspire a horror of war.

Valuable Improvement.

"What do you think of this proposed telephone attachment to enable the talkers to also see each other?" "It will be fine. Then I can call up my husband to tell me if my hat is on straight."
